JFK, MAC SEEK ARMS MEET

—FRANCE CLOSER TO ANARCHY—

Reds Precipitate Wild Riot In Paris

Paris (AP) — A demonstration by thousands of Communists protesting the rightist secret army's terrorist policies on Algeria flared into 3 hours of wild battling in the Place de la Bastille Thursday night. Eight persons died in the violence that pushed France a step closer to the edge of anarchy.

Three women and a 15-year-old boy were among the victims.

Hundreds more were injured in the spreading clashes between club-wielding riot police and stone-hurling leftists.

Red Directed

Interior Minister Roger Frey told reporters in his office that the demonstration-riot had been directed by the Communist Party, and he added:

"Rarely have such well organized bands of rioters attacked the security forces."

As the fighting raged, the Secret Army's plastic bombs, which have plagued the capital for months, exploded in scattered sections of Paris.

Urgent Appeal

The deeply troubled French government issued an urgent appeal for order and warned against anarchy.

The rally was staged in defiance of government orders banning public demonstrations.

Police said 83 demonstrators were arrested and jailed. An official investigation was ordered.

Fighting slacked off shortly before midnight and riot forces had the situation under control. Through the night patrol squads continued to mop up in side-street skirmishes with die-hard holdouts.

The police counted 140 wounded among their own forces in the battle to uphold the De Gaulle government against explosive attacks from left as well as right in the volatile atmosphere generated by the protracted Algerian crisis.

Resorting to a classic pattern of French rioting, the Reds ripped up paving blocks—an old favorite weapon for them—and hurled them in the swirling battles with charging security forces.

The fighting flared first in the Bastille Place—scene of the start of the French Revolution in 1789 — but quickly spread as mobs formed suddenly throughout the eastern end of the city.

At least 16 plastic bombs exploded during the clashes. The main targets were Communist publishing houses and offices.

The 3-story building housing the Soviet news agency Tass was heavily damaged. A woman worker at one publishing firm was injured.

No Legal Ban

In France there is no legal ban on Communism. The party, old and well established, had drawn over 5 million votes in past national elections — in a country of 43 million people.

Thousands of Communists, joined by other leftists and students, massed in the Place de la Bastille.

The Red-led gathering was summoned to protest a wave of terrorist plastic bombings Wednesday that injured 11 persons. Police had blocked off side streets in an effort to halt the swelling mobs — but in vain.

Shouting "fascism will not pass," rioters ripped up paving stones from the street and hurled them as police charged in with night sticks.

The De Gaulle government appeal for order said:

"The government cannot lend itself to the double game of the enemies of the nation, which can only shake republican institutions and result in anarchy."

The demonstration, among the worst to hit Paris in the course of the 7-year rebellion in Algeria, was an emotional outburst of the left against the right. And this time the Communists had more than average sympathy for their cause.

'Single' Wholesale Power Unit Urged

...BY REA COMMITTEE

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The legislative code committee of the Nebraska Rural Electric Assn. Thursday recommended establishment of a single statewide electric wholesale agency.

The district would supply power to all parts of Nebraska except the corporate area of the Omaha Public Power District.

Frank Haumont of Broken Bow, committee chairman and president of Custer Public Power District, offered the proposal in a report to the NREA's concluding convention session.

The plan runs counter to a two-agency proposal now being considered by a 4-member subcommittee of the Nebraska Public Power Committee.

In other action, NREA delegates adopted a resolution opposing the 14-utility power interchange plan submitted to Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall.

The resolution — supporting the position of the Midwest Electric Consumers Assn. — endorsed the application of Basin Electric Cooperatives Assn. to construct a steam generating plant in North Dakota.

Another resolution proposed establishment of a farm electrification research laboratory at the University of Nebraska in conjunction with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

NREA also went on record in opposition to a proposed amendment to Federal Communications Commission regulations which would, in effect, prevent many small daytime radio stations from broadcasting prior to sunrise.

Grid Power Pool

The convention urged the Department of Interior to recommend a transmission grid power pool plan to Congress.

Haumont's legislative proposal was designed to help alleviate "great duplication and conflicts of interest."

The code also directs that public power agencies "cooperate in studying and planning for new facilities" and that contract formulas be "computed on a short-term operating experience basis."

Few Hail Kennedy Ed Plans

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy's latest plea for action on his general school aid bill failed to arouse any enthusiasm in the House Thursday.

And to make matters worse, his college aid bill suffered a setback when Republican objections to its scholarship program blocked, at least temporarily, efforts to compromise differences between the House and Senate versions.

Three times since Congress reconvened last month Kennedy has urged it to pass his bill to help the nation's public schools — in his State of the Union message, in a special education message, and in his news conference Wednesday.

Still There

The bill was buried in the House Rules Committee last year under a controversy over aid to parochial schools, and it is still there.

At Wednesday's news conference Kennedy made a direct appeal to the House Education and Labor Committee to bring out a new bill if nothing can be done to rescue the original from the rules committee.

It is generally conceded that the old bill is beyond rescue, which leaves it up to the Education and Labor Committee if Kennedy's request is to be met.

Unmoved

Rep. Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the committee, remained unmoved by Kennedy's pleas.

"I don't want to see this committee bogged down in another long, bitter fight over a school bill, the way we were last year," said Powell, "and I don't think the President does, either.

"After all, he sent me 7 other items in that education message and I'm sure he doesn't want me to put them all aside while we go through the school bill fight again."

Tiros IV Works Well; May Assist Astronaut

Washington (AP) — A new weather satellite, Tiros IV, shot into orbit around the earth Thursday immediately startedt aking excellent quality pictures of the clouds 500 miles below it.

Within a few days, cloud photographs from the new satellite may play a significant role in plans for the recovery of Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., from the first project Mercury manned orbital flight.

One of the two cameras in the drum-shaped, 285-pound satellite was equipped with an improved lens to reduce distortion and provide greater detail.

Some of the first pictures showed a tremendous cloud coverage over North America, with what space agency officials called "really good" detail in the clouds.

Other films showed the outline of the Great Lakes.

Pictures taken on the second orbit provided a clear shot of the clouds over Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan, southern Canada, Nova Scotia and the North Atlantic.

Film on the first orbit covered an area "probably a little bit further east," said Dr. Morris Tepper, director of meteorological systems for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Tiros IV was launched at 7:43.06 a.m. EST from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The pictures transmitted by the satellite were received at two primary stations — Wallops Island, Va., and Point Mugu, Calif.—and at a backup station operated by Radio Corporation of America at Princeton, N.J.

At both primary stations, Weather Bureau teams were on hand to analyze the most immediately useful photographic data. Starting Friday, the Weather Bureau will employ Tiros IV data in its own weather forecasting work, and will make public pictures of particular interest.

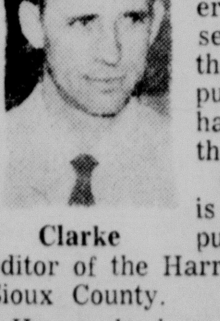
David S. Johnson, acting director of satellite activities for the Weather Bureau, told a news conference that data from the satellite would be put on the international circuit, for the use of all countries interested.

As for the forthcoming orbital attempt by Glenn now planned for the middle or latter part of next week—Tepper said Tiros IV could well play a significant role if something went wrong and the astronaut landed far from the planned recovery areas.

Seaton Has Challenger In Clarke

By The Associated Press

George A. Clarke, a rancher at Harrison, said Thursday he will seek the Republican nomination for governor.



Clarke

Fred Seaton, Hastings publisher and former interior secretary, is the only Republican who has filed thus far.

Clarke, 43, is a former publisher and editor of the Harrison Sun in Sioux County.

He made known his plan to file in a letter to GOP State Chairman Robert V. Denney of Fairbury.

Clarke wrote:

"It is high time that the west portion of the state, so long treated as an illegitimate stepchild, receives recognition in our state government."

Clarke said "the tax mess should be cleaned up, and the property owner should be given relief. In this respect a sales tax should provide adequate remedy on the state level."

He said he did not favor an income tax nor did he favor compulsory school redistricting.

12th Underground Device Detonated

Washington (AP)—The United States detonated a nuclear device underground Thursday at its Nevada test site.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced it had conducted the test but gave no other information except to say it was of low yield. This means, in AEC usage of the term, an explosion with lesser force than that from detonation of 20,000 tons of TNT.

Thursday's test was the 12th which has been announced since the United States resumed nuclear testing.

Pawn Shop Sells Several Paintings By Noted Artists

Paris (AP) — Pictures by Cezanne, Gauguin, Rouault and lesser known artists were auctioned Thursday for a total of 600,000 francs ($120,000) at the most unusual art sale of the season.

All had been left as unclaimed pledges in city-operated pawn shops. Names of the former owners, who were unable to redeem their property, were kept secret. Most were bought by the same dealers who usually frequent more conventional salerooms.

Georges Rouault's "Prima Vera" (spring) fetched the best price, 120,000 francs ($24,000).

Hint At Summit With Red Chief

...AFTER MINISTERS TALK

Washington (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan announced Thursday a bid to Soviet Premier Khrushchev for a foreign ministers' meeting on disarmament and hinted at a summit meeting to follow.

They announced also British permission for U. S. in-the-air nuclear tests at Christmas Island in the Pacific Ocean, and U. S. permission for a British underground test in Nevada.

The announcement, made simultaneously at the White House and by Macmillan before the House of Commons, shaped up as a joint U.S.-British strategy aimed at:

1. Probing Soviet intentions once again for an agreement on halting the arms race.

Focus Attention

2. Focusing world attention on the U.S.-British disarmament effort, rather than on their preparations for a new round of nuclear testing.

3. Quieting domestic critics, particularly in Britain, of the new Western atomic tests.

U.S. authorities said that regardless of whether the Soviets agree to a foreign ministers' get-together, Kennedy would decide soon on security grounds whether to go ahead with atmospheric tests.

Necessary

He has indicated he believes renewed U.S. atmospheric testing is necessary because of Soviet weapons advances since breaking the test moratorium last September.

There is little expectation here that Khrushchev will go along outright with the Kennedy-Macmillan suggestion that the U.S.-British-Soviet foreign ministers convene ahead of the 18-nation general disarmament conference opening at Geneva March 14. It was speculated that Moscow would respond with some counter proposition aimed at jockeying for propaganda advantage.

The Kennedy-Macmillan invitation was delivered to Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko by the U.S. and British ambassadors in Moscow Wednesday. Presumably, it was forwarded promptly to Khrushchev, reported vacationing at the Black Sea. U.S. officials said no Russian reply has been received yet, and none is expected immediately.

As announced in Washington and London, the U.S. and British chiefs proposed to Khrushchev that the Geneva meeting "be initiated at the foreign-minister level and that their foreign ministers should meet before the conference started and also be prepared to return as personal participants in the negotiations at appropriate stages as progress is made."

The joint announcement said the United States and Britain believe that, because of the recent Soviet series of some 50 atmospheric tests, the West should go ahead with such further testing "as may be necessary for purely military reasons."

At the same time, the two Western governments declared their deep concern "for the future of mankind if a halt cannot be called to the nuclear arms race." They resolved to make "a supreme effort" at the Geneva conference to "move away from this sterile contest."

Direct Interest

It was in this connection that the Kennedy-Macmillan statement suggested a possible summit meeting, if that should seem worthwhile. Their statement said, "the heads of government of the United States, United Kingdom, and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics should assume a direct and personal interest in these negotiations."

Intangibles 'Need Laws With Teeth'

Assessor Urges Tax Committee

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

A plea for tax legislation with "teeth" in it which would force Nebraska taxpayers to report actual intangible holdings was voiced Thursday before the Legislative Council Tax Study Committee.

Washington County Assessor Earl Long, one of 3 spokesmen appearing for the Nebraska Association of County Assessors, made the request during a report on assessors' experiences with taxing intangible property.

Commenting on problems involved with Intangible A property (cash and bank accounts), Long said taxpayers were reporting only about one-fourth the amount of money which shows up in bank deposit reports.

"We're losing millions of dollars in Intangible A (property)," Long said, adding that assessors would like to have a law which would require banks to declare the amount of money they hold in checking accounts on assessment date, January 1.

'Can Banks' Escape

"This still wouldn't get the guy who has his money buried in a tin can under the apple tree," Long said, but indicated it would help and is a law which some states have on their books.

He also asked for legislation which would force foreign corporations to file an annual report with the state

Argentina Splits Ties With Cuba

Buenos Aires, Argentina (AP)—President Arturo Frondizi yielded under pressure of military leaders Thursday night and broke diplomatic relations with Fidel Castro's Communist Cuba.

The action, reversing Argentina's soft stand on Cuba at the recent Punta del Este conference, increased to 14 the number of hemisphere republics that have cut ties with the increasingly isolated Castro. Argentina's neighbor Uruguay may become the 15th to break with Havana.

Frondizi's government ordered Cuban diplomats to get out of the country within 48 hours.

Officials immediately prepared for a possible outbreak of violence by aroused pro-Castro leftists.

The break enabled Frondizi to ease the worst military crisis confronting him since he took office more than three years ago.

The crisis was touched off by Argentina's refusal at the Punta del Este foreign ministers' conference to vote for a U.S. and majority-backed resolution ordering Cuba ousted from the inter-American family.

Military Censors Stay Anonymous

. . . BY PRESIDENTIAL DECREE

Washington (AP) — Invoking executive privilege, President Kennedy Thursday forbade Pentagon or State Department witnesses to tell a Senate subcommittee who censored specific speeches by military men. The Senators quickly gave up their demand for the names.

Only Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., protested when Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., ruled "I am convinced this executive plea applies and the chair sustains it." However, Thurmond did not ask for a subcommittee vote on the ruling, which he could have done.

Stennis had been insisting on the Senators' right to the names up to the moment when Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara read to the subcommittee Kennedy's letter ordering him not to let Pentagon witnesses provide them.

Kennedy cited the doctrine of executive privilege which he said had been established by his predecessors from George Washington to Dwight D. Eisenhower in keeping with the separation of the 3 branches of government.

"I have concluded that it would be contrary to the public interest to make available any information which would enable the subcommittee to identify and hold accountable any individual with respect to any particular speech that he has reviewed," the President wrote.

No Testimony

"I therefore direct you, and all personnel under the jurisdiction of your department, not to give any testimony or produce any documents which would disclose such information; and I am issuing parallel instructions to the secretary of state.

Both Defense and State Departments were included in Kennedy's order because witnesses from both agencies are being called in the Armed Services subcommittee inquiry. Censors from both departments review speeches by military men dealing with foreign policy.

Meanwhile, the controversy over a cold war quiz given to 32 Marines at the corps' headquarters last week by two subcommittee investigators spilled onto the Senate floor.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., accused the two of "Gestapo tactics," and in effect of invading the President's powers as commander-in-chief. Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., a former Marine, said, "To say I was shocked and surprised that this kind of questioning has been practiced is putting it mildly."

Thurmond endorsed the quizzing. He said nothing improper was done and that an effort is being made to "make a mountain out of a molehill." He accused Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, staff was responsible for all of it."

Withhold Judgment

Stennis told the Senate a searching inquiry into the matter is underway and declared, "We are not covering up, we are not holding back." He appealed to the Senators "to withhold judgment and not prejudge, until all the facts are in."

Gen. David M. Shoup, Marine Corps commandant, wrote his pentagon superiors: "I consider the manner in which this event transpired to be detrimental to the morale of those whose morale I am responsible for."

The top leatherneck said he himself would not have been able to answer all the questions asked in the questionnaire.

Stennis read to the Senate a memorandum by Charles A. Byrne, one of the interrogators. (The other was Ben Kaplan, former aide to Thurmond.)

Byrne said the questionnaire was submitted to the Marines on instructions from a subcommittee staff member whom he identified as G. E. Hartel, who had been appointed to the subcommittee staff at Thurmond's request. It was Hartel who drafted the questions, Byrne said.

Jayne's Peril Not A 'Stunt'

. . . HUSBAND SAYS

Nassau, Bahamas (AP) — A disheveled and weeping Jayne Mansfield returned safely Thursday and her husband denounced as a lie any suggestion the movie actress' disappearance was a publicity stunt.

"I am very hurt," said Mickey Hargitay with tears in his eyes. "Jaynie doesn't need publicity. Only a stupid person would think up such a lie."

Miss Mansfield, Hargitay, and their friend, hotel publicist Jack Drury of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., were spotted Thursday morning on the eastern beach of Rose Island, 6 miles east of Nassau.

They had been the objects of an intense air-sea search that began after dark Wednesday when Miss Mansfield failed to keep several appointments following a water skiing trip.

The search intensified after Richard Wells, a 45-year-old fisherman, reported finding the overturned boat about sundown. He and a companion righted it and towed it in to Nassau.

Minor Mystery

A minor mystery developed when it was noted the skis and tow ropes were missing, but searchers said they disappeared in the struggle that overturned the boat or when the two men righted it.

Upon their return to Nassau, Miss Mansfield was hospitalized for shock, cuts, exposure, and numerous sand flea and mosquito bites. Hargitay was treated for a cut leg. Drury was uninjured.

Hargitay said he attended the news conference only because he had heard talk that the disappearance was a publicity stunt.

"That's the only reason I left my wife's bedside," he said. "Jaynie doesn't need publicity. It's a miracle this girl is living."

Ice brought injuries to at least two Lincolnites Thursday night.

Driving home from the Lincoln Air Force Base, S/Sgt. Donald Gillette, 24, of 824 West A, lost control of his car on the ice and rolled over, the Nebraska Safety Patrol said.

After the accident 2½ miles west of Lincoln on West A, the sergeant was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for cuts and bruises and then released.

Washington Monument To Close For Cleaning

Washington (AP)—The Washington Monument will be closed to the public for one day, Feb. 15, to get its twice-a-year cleaning and elevator inspection.

It will close at 4 p.m., an hour early, on Feb. 14 so cleaning crews can move in and get started, National Park Service officials announced Thursday.

Elevator inspectors will check the elevator shaft which ascends from the ground to the 500-foot level of the 555-feet high obelisk of white marble.

R. Kennedy Shrugs Off Hostilities

Tokyo (AP) — Communists tried Friday to inflame industrial workers against Robert F. Kennedy, who has shrugged off minor leftist hostilities and called the Japanese the friendliest people he knows.

The U.S. attorney general returned to Tokyo Thursday night from a triumphant, 48-hour tour of the Osaka-Kyoto area that took in farmlands, villages and 4 cities. Scattered groups of leftist youths booed him a half dozen times, but flopped as militant demonstrators.

The attorney general planned tours Friday of a Tokyo factory and the smoky Kawasaki industrial section south of the capital.

Members of 10 Communist cells distributed thousands of anti-American handbills at the Tokyo factory and counted on a strong display of known leftist sentiments at Kawasaki.

This was part of a drive launched by the party newspaper Akahata (Red Flag) to discredit the President's 36-year-old brother even before he arrived last Sunday.

Time was getting short for any significant Communist action, for Kennedy and his party are leaving Saturday for Indonesia.

5-Year Term Heads Into 26th Year

The Nebraska Board of Pardons and Paroles will consider the case of an Omaha man still serving the 5-year term he started in 1936 when it meets at the State Penitentiary here Wednesday, March 14.

A Douglas County District Court on Feb. 2, 1936 sentenced John Bryl to 5 years for an Omaha robbery.

Bryl escaped from the penitentiary on Sept. 25, 1937, but shortly afterwards was arrested in Iowa for a crime there.

Now 50, Bryl escaped from Iowa prisons in 1944 and again in 1952.

The second time he was arrested in Michigan where he served a sentence on another charge. In 1959, Bryl was paroled to Iowa authorities.

Iowa turned him over to Nebraska on Nov. 8, 1960. He had been gone 23 years and 13 days.

Except for his brief freedoms, Bryl has been in confinement since 1936.

He is asking the board to commute his robbery sentence so he can start on the extra year he got for his escape.

HOUSE UNIT ORDERS INQUIRY IN CALLUP

Washington (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee ordered Thursday an inquiry into the callup of military reserves in the Berlin crisis and current administration proposals to reduce the number of citizen soldiers.

Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., said the investigation would start after Pentagon officials complete their current series of reports on the nation's military posture.

Vinson entrusted the inquiry to a subcommittee headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., who said in a statement that it will cover not only the "alleged deficiencies" in last year's partial mobilization but also every phase of present and future plans for the reserves.

Vinson ordered the investigation after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara outlined his plans for a smaller reserve force "tailored to fit our over-all force requirements."

McNamara was questioned for several days behind closed doors last month. Excerpts from his testimony made public by the committee laid the foundation for the congressional inquiry.

The defense secretary told the committee "it is not a practical policy to rely on the reserve forces to meet the repeated crises which inevitably lie ahead."

He said the regular force must be kept strong enough to handle most cold war situations, "relying on the reserves for augmentation only when armed conflict is imminent."

McNamara argued also that reserve units selected for call in limited emergencies "must be brought to a much higher level of combat readiness."

Hebert said that the inquiry will not necessarily be limited to the broad areas outlined by Vinson. These areas include the alleged deficiencies resulting from the recent callup, the national defense requirements for a reserve program, present and future costs of the reserves, their ability to meet mobilization requirements and a review of the service obligations of reservists who have completed two or more years of active duty.

Agents Seize $2 Million In Bogus Tens

New York (AP) — Treasury agents announced the seizure Thursday night of nearly $2 million in bogus $10 bills from plates which caused a Secret Service alert 6 months ago.

The U.S. Treasury Office said the counterfeit bills were seized in the cellar of a 4-family house in Brooklyn.

One prisoner was taken. He was identified as Joseph Maggio, laborer for a utility company, who with his wife and one child, had occupied an apartment in the building for 4 years.

Maggio was described as not important in the counterfeiting organization producing the bills. He was silent under questioning.

Bogus $10 bills began circulating in the 5 boroughs of New York about 6 months ago.

Beatrice Home 'Most Overcrowded'

Nebraska Cost-Per-Patient Rate Among Nation's Lowest

...Morris Informs Civic Leaders

By TED TURPIN
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

David City—The Beatrice State Home is Nebraska's most overcrowded state institution, Director of Institutions George Morris told civic leaders from 30 Nebraska towns here Thursday.

Morris was luncheon speaker at a Community Betterment and Industrial Development area meeting, sponsored by the Division of Nebraska Resources and University Department of Community Services.

"We're badly overcrowded even by the minimum standards we set up for private care institutions," he told his listeners.

In answer to questions from the audience, Morris said Nebraska has one of the most economical cost-per-patient rates in the nation. It is just $3 a day at the Beatrice home, he said.

Stryker Speaks

Also speaking briefly on the noon program was State Senator Harold Stryker of Rising City.

About 100 attended the community planning meeting during the day. After lunch they discussed specific problems of communities as they divided into small groups.

Earlier in the day; assistant chief of Nebraska Resources Division Lee Rising had cited David City and Norfolk as two cities that "have done a lot with local industrial development."

David City residents, he said, should be proud of the rapid gain in number of employes at the local egg processing plant.

"This whole program of industrial development depends on you," he said, "and your ability to sell your community on industrial progress."

Values Told Of Stubble Mulch Plan

Stubble mulching in drier areas may increase wheat yields an average of one to two bushels per acre while conserving the soil, a U.S. Department of Agriculture economist declared here Thursday.

Warren Bailey of Washington, D.C., made the comment during the opening session of the Great Plains Agricultural Council Workshop on Stubble Mulch Farming at the University of Nebraska Center for Continuing Education. Some 150 persons from the 10 Great Plains states, the Pacific Northwest and the prairie provinces of Canada are attending the two-day workshop.

Gulick Probably Froze To Death

Omaha (AP)—A preliminary autopsy report has indicated that Harry James Gulick, 59, probably froze to death. His body was found in a field west of Omaha.

Sheriff's Capt. Ed Clinchard said it is still a mystery how Gulick, who lived in a downtown hotel, got to the site. Hotel residents said Gulick could hardly walk.

Dedication Set For 4 Buildings

Kearney (AP)—Four buildings will be dedicated at Kearney State College Sunday afternoon.

They are Herbert L. Cushing Coliseum, Carrie E. Ludden Hall for Women, Everett L. Randall Hall for Men, and College Heights Apartments, married students housing project.

Dr. George W. Rosenlof, formerly director of admissions at the University of Nebraska, will be the speaker. John T. Bressler Jr., president of the State Normal Board, will be among others on the program.

SWINGIN' WITH JAMAL

Ahmad Jamal Swings Out To 1,000 At University

The Ahmad Jamal trio gave Lincoln some memorable moments in modern music Thursday evening.

Nearly 1,000 students heard the contemporary jazz pianist play two performances in the University of Nebraska Student Union ballroom.

Backed up by percussionist Vernel Fournier and Israel Crosby on bass, Jamal told The Star: "We attempt to project a strong rhythmic approach."

Jamal started off with an arrangement of "Green Dolphin Street," followed a little later by Rodgers and Hammerstein's "We Kissed In a Shadow."

There were medleys with overtones of "I'll Take Romance" and "A, You're Adorable." Jamal played a progressive jazz rendition of "Surrey With a Fringe On Top."

Jamal's performance bore out what he said — "I play stylized jazz. It's a contemporary art form, and we play it progressive with a delicate approach."

He described his pattern as a "multiplicity of rhythms" based on "diversified sources" from musical literature.

Palace Lagging

London (AP) — Buckingham Palace's press relations office was caught nearly 5 years behind the march of events. The royal court circular announced that Queen Elizabeth II had received Taieb Slim, retiring ambassador "from the kingdom of Tunisia." Tunisia has been a republic since the bey was deposed in July 1957.

COURT HITS 'IMITATION' HAM LABEL

Washington (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman went too far in ordering an "imitation ham" label put on smoked ham to which water has been added.

The court threw out Freeman's edict as "an enforced distortion of the truth" and said he would force meat packers into violating a statute which forbids misbranding.

The litigation could have been avoided easily, the court said, if the secretary had merely required that the hams have a label "showing the nature and extent of the added water."

"Capricious and arbitrary," was one way the court described the order.

The battle over watered hams has been going on between meat packers and consumer groups for a long time. The packers contend the addition of water improves the quality of the meat. The consumer groups contend purchasers are defrauded by the extra weight the water adds to the ham.

The addition of water to federal inspected hams was authorized by former secretary of agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. It permitted addition of moisture content up to 10% of the green or uncured weight of the ham.

Last Nov. 17, Freeman issued his order requiring the "imitation ham" label.

The court of appeals directed a federal district court to enter a preliminary injunction asked by Armour & Co. against enforcement of the order. The district court had denied the injunction.

The Agriculture Department said its lawyers are studying the ruling to decide whether to take the issue to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Infant's Funeral Slated For Friday

Funeral services for a one-month-old baby boy, Duane Allen Curry of 2338 No. 31st, will be 1 p.m. Friday at Umbergers, the Rev. G. L. Collins officiating.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Curry was pronounced dead on arrival Wednesday to a Lincoln hospital.

Firemen were called to give him oxygen; and police said the boy suffocated under his blankets.

Dark Nag Loses; White Pals Fatal

Indianapolis (AP) — Velmer Hendrix, 47, Folsomville, saw two white horses galloping down a highway near here early Thursday and decided his truck could pass between them.

Too late he saw the white horses weren't alone — his truck hit and killed a brown horse in the middle.

Hendrix, unhurt, reported about $1,000 damage to his truck.

RAIN BELTS SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles (AP) — Up to 4 inches of rain walloped Southern California areas Thursday. It flooded homes, streets and cars, crippled traffic, closed schools and swept a schoolboy to death in a flood control channel.

A landslide buried a car on U.S. Highway 101 at Coral Beach north of Santa Monica. The driver suffered major injuries.

Landslides blocked 101 and at least two other highways. Mud and water crept down Bel-Air slopes denuded by last November's multimillion-dollar fire.

Firemen evacuated 5 homes and a number of swamped automobiles in the sodden South Bay area. Mayor William Suppe of Manhattan Beach got permission to use national guard troops if it becomes necessary to evacuate low-lying homes in his community.

The 40-foot schooner Adventurous radioed it was lost in fog and rain 14 miles off point dume. A Coast Guard patrol boat went after it.

The 6,100-ton freighter Chickasaw, sailing from Japan to Los Angeles, ran aground on Santa Rose Island, 30 miles off Santa Barbara, during a blinding rain.

Seven-year-old Charles Hibbs drowned in the rain-swollen Los Angeles River flood control channel in suburban Canoga Park.

Three other second-graders with whom he was walking to school said he wanted to show them what a good swimmer he was. They said he climbed down the steep bank into the water and was swept away.

Fremont Plans Series Of Meets

Fremont (AP) — Organization meetings will be held Wednesday and Sunday nights in Fremont to set up discussion groups which will study "Freedom vs. Communism" over a period of 8 to 9 weeks.

E. A. Jaksha, spokesman for the Fremont Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the series, said the study is based on material prepared by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Its objective is "to help people to help themselves to become better informed on both sides of the 'ideological issue,' " he said.

Valparaiso OKs $80,000 Issue

Valparaiso — Voters here approved a $80,000 school bond issue for construction of a 4-classroom addition to be used by the grade school.

The vote was 159 for and 62 against.

Increased enrollment within the district and the addition of several rural districts to the Valparaiso school district prompted the vote, Supt. Ross P. Korsgaard said.

Gizenga Is In Exile On Bula Bemba

Leopoldville, the Congo (AP) — An island exile has been prescribed for the fallen Lumumbist leader Antoine Gizenga, Congolese sources said Thursday. The central government has transferred him to the island of Bula Bemba in the Congo River estuary, one informant said.

It was the 5th time the deposed deputy premier had been relocated since his downfall last month, and indicated the continuing indecision within the Congolese government about what should be done with the all but helpless leftist.

Senator Kiwewa, a partisan of Gizenga from Oriental Province, said the transfer took place several days ago. There has been no official statement about Gizenga's present whereabouts or future prospects.

Lost Out

A handful of parliamentarians remaining loyal to the pro-Communist leader tried Wednesday to force a vote calling for Gizenga's immediate release. They lost out in a welter of conflicting motions.

The government of Premier Cyrille Adoula officially insists Gizenga is merely being held under "protection" and that due process of law is being accorded him. So far no legal steps have been published.

One member claimed in parliament Gizenga demanded his liberty from government guards a week ago, saying he was being held "like an animal in a cage, ready for the kill." The government insists Gizenga is free to seek United Nations protection anytime he wants it.

Citations Given To 5 Volunteers For Ag Service

Five volunteers who have been reporting on crops, livestock and prices for 35 consecutive years as of last month, received certificates of merit this week from the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

They are Jesse C. Avery of Humboldt, R. C. Ritchie of Sargent, Ora Randall of Mitchell, E. H. Stoll of Arapahoe and Chadron Grain and Coal Co. of Chadron.

Thirty-five year certificates have been issued to 68 reporters in the last 3 years.

The certificates are awarded "in recognition of faithful, continuous service to Nebraska agriculture as a voluntary reporter."

Kearney-Made Oil Filters Test Set

Officials of the J. A. Baldwin Manufacturing Co. of Kearney will submit their oil filters to a competitive test at the state testing laboratory in Lincoln Friday afternoon.

The tests are being made at the request of State Purchasing Agent Leo Beck Sr.

The Kearney firm was low bidder recently on oil filters for the Nebraska Safety Patrol.

Baldwin officials said this marks the first time the low bidder on filters for the state has been required to submit his product to a competitive test. They said, however, they welcomed the opportunity of competitive testing.

Lesson From France

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

With a settlement of the Algerian problem reported by the French government as imminent, the French Secret Army Organization has stepped up its campaign of terrorism. With its tactics of bombing and shooting on a hit-and-miss pattern throughout Paris and in Algeria, the OAS hopes to discourage and eventually defeat any efforts at denationalization of the French possession on the African continent.

Some may take a detached view of this entire episode and think it is of no concern to them. On the other hand, France has given the world many lessons in her long history and it behooves the intelligent person to study these lessons for the help they may provide in meeting the problems that any nation must confront from time to time. Some may say that the situation in France is of no concern to us because what is happening there could never happen here. They think it preposterous that an element of the military in the United States would go so far as to defy the civil authority of the land.

Closer To Home

Yet, such defiance is being practiced all the time. The major difference from France is that the culmination of this defiance has been found in the United States in methods other than armed revolution. But we have had removals from command, resignations, Senate investigations and political explosions as a result of such military defiance.

France, it is true, is different in form of government with her Fifth Republic than the Republic of the United States of America. We have steered toward an elective, representative form of government while France has drifted more toward the parliamentary form used in England. Still, her system is elective, her government in the end must answer to the people and she is still experiencing military revolution.

This is not, in France, as though a small group of people were simply raising Cain—it is not in the nature of a rally at City Hall. These are dedicated, career military men leading a movement coldly calculated to abort the political decision of the duly constituted government. They started innocently enough and with a keen sense of patriotism and duty. It was not their thought to defeat France. Quite the contrary, it was their conviction that they were destined to save France from another defeat such as was experienced in Indochina and Suez. Their heritage of greatness simply could not permit the fall of one of the final remnants of French colonial power.

Basically, parts of the French Army have simply believed that the government has been unable to cope with the Algerian situation. This conviction came, in reality, not from a belief that the government could not handle the situation, but rather, from a disagreement as to how it should be handled. The Army that is now in revolt believed that Algeria must be retained for France and that this could be accomplished only by the military. Perhaps they were blinded to the fact that the government had not dedicated itself to the preservation of Algeria as a French colony but such was the case. Prime Minister Charles de Gaulle, in fact, announced and worked toward a settlement which gives Algeria a choice as to what it wants to do.

If De Gaulle can come to terms with the Algerian nationals, the inhabitants of the area will eventually vote on either complete independence from France, complete integration with France or a co-operative commonwealth type of arrangement. The Army insurgents, of course, oppose this. They want the Algerian nationalists crushed and the country fully absorbed by France without any voting on the subject.

The disorderly state of affairs is proving to be an embarrassing thing for France and a considerable obstacle to the successful completion of the prime minister's plans. And it contributes to an overall political instability which has been the trademark of France since the end of World War II.

What started out as a noble cause on the part of loyal troops has now turned into an open act of treason. This should serve as a warning to other nations not to take for granted the authority of the civil government over the military. Basically, the OAS was in disagreement with French foreign policy and we find a segment of the American military in the same position. The extent to which the American military follows the rest of the French pattern will be determined by the tolerance with which we deal with policy splits between the military and civil authorities.

Applying The Pattern

This is the danger that lies in advocating a free rein for the military in the indoctrination of troops, in political activity and in speaking publicly on national and international affairs. It is not a matter of preserving or guarding the policies of any president or political party, but rather, is a matter of preserving the Republic.

Merit In Weaver Approach

Rep. Phil Weaver has introduced a bill in Congress to combine into one overall project the proposed development of the upper and lower reaches of the Loup River. It would seem that this proposal is one of merit, even though it may represent a compromise to some interests. Compromise, too, is sometimes difficult to accept but it is better than complete defeat.

The upper Loup development has a headstart on the lower project because it entered the Washington scene at an earlier date. But there has been an area of incompatibility between the two projects because of this timing. Downstream interests have felt that development of the upper project would threaten a water shortage before an essential reservoir in the lower reaches could be constructed and implemented to avert the shortage.

On the other hand, the upstream group has not agreed with the findings of the other group and has maintained that it should not be held up just to wait for the other group. Both sides have sound logic behind them, both are sincere and the true facts of water supply are difficult to ascertain. Supposed experts in the field do not even entirely agree.

Thus, if Weaver can combine the two projects and move them through Congress together, he will have settled the dispute. Tying the two together may delay some the upper Loup project but it should also tend to speed up the lower Loup development so that as little time as possible is lost. It is hoped that those concerned in both of these programs will sincerely try to work together so that a much needed and beneficial program for Nebraska can eventually come into being

The Issue Is Joined

Harold Lee, a Coloradoan, director of the Midwestern Electric Consumers Association, speaking to the Nebraska Rural Electric Association convention here, attacked the recent proposal of 14 private utilities for a power interchange with the Missouri Basin hydros. He said it was an effort to ring the curtain down on future power development within the Basin.

What he had in mind was the proposal before the Secretary of Interior for a mutually beneficial interchange which would pipe off power from the Basin during periods of excessive production with a repayment of that power during seasons of low Basin production. The arguments for the arrangement emphasize a better level of firm power throughout the year rendering unnecessary substantial investments in standby plants which would be required of each party if no interchange were effected.

This, Lee asserted, was a provocative but veiled counter move to thwart a North Dakota resources development which envisions thermal electric production using the state's extensive lignite beds as a fuel source. A request for federal support has already been lodged.

Time and developments will reveal the merits of each proposal and final judgment will have to await the development and study of the evidence. Nevertheless, Mr. Lee's assault on the private utilities plan is timely and useful. It joins the issue and identifies the elements of the controversy.

While the 14 utilities can point to an immediate benefit to all concerned in interchange, plus other advantages easily understood, there still is the question of a totally self-reliant Basin enterprise as well as the question of priority running to a state or region which is resolved to improve its economic position by the development of its available resources. This question cannot be confined to a consideration only of mutual convenience of two electric power producing principals.

One Was Enough

The aging generation is inclined to look back fondly on a childhood buttered up with juvenile books whose young heroes prevailed to wealth and position over intolerable odds. Not the least of these literary outpourings came from the a minister turned author who produced the Horatio Alger series.

The Horatio Alger writings have recently become subject for a biographer, a Mr. Frank Gruber, who notes that there were 190 Alger stories in all, each running to 50,000 words. In terms of consumption the series must be considered as one of the best sellers of all time.

Looking back on the Alger series they bring sweet memories of an America that once was—an uncomplicated country mainly of small towns. One's horizon needed to go little beyond the city limits. The grinding worries of a nuclear age and world made painfully small did not exist. And the jump from poverty to affluence and position was a small one—a thing that could be negotiated by a show of diligence, virtue and a chance to perform before the right audience. A common school education was sufficient. Never was young America more able to be captain of its own destiny, so it seems.

But as one examines the motif that ran through all the Alger books from Pluck to Luck to Tattered Tom or Sink or Swim, they taught one questionable principle, namely the highest reward of an upright, diligent life was not virtue as either an ennobling or public serving thing, but a short cut to wealth and position, mainly that kind gotten by marrying the rich man's daughter. That was not a very good piece of advice because rich men have never had enough daughters to reward more than a frightfully small number of poor but upright and diligent young men.

California Crime Feeling The Law

LOS ANGELES — Few Hollywood thrillers could match the story of money, muscle, and murder that is locked in the California crime files.

The raw reports, which this column has seen, tell of gangsters in pinstripes who have put crime on a business basis, of professional triggermen who kill by contract.

Murder has become more sophisticated since the tommygun terror of the roaring 'Twenties. But manicured murder is still murder.

Organized crime was introduced to California in the 1930's by Bugsy Siegel who was sent by the New York-New Jersey racket bosses to open a branch office on the West Coast.

When he tried to double-cross them in 1947, he received some of their .45 calibre justice. Imported killers shattered a picture window and gunned him down as he lounged in a plush apartment that he had set up for his mistress.

The flamboyant "Bugs" was succeeded as California's crime czar by the dreaded Jack Dragna, who came to be called the "Capone of the Coast."

Although he is now dead, the Dragna name is still feared in the California underworld. For his nephews, Frank Paul and Louis Tom, and a son, Frank Paul, have taken his place in the rackets.

The two Frank Paul Dragnas are known in the underworld as "one eye" and "two eye." The son, who has a glass eye, is active in San Diego. The nephew keeps his two good eyes on the Dragna enterprises in the Los Angeles area.

☆ ☆ ☆

Both "one eye" and "two eye" have been schooled in violence, have been arrested but not convicted of "conspiracy to commit murder." The balding, bookish Louis Tom Dragna, who lives more quietly in West Covina with his wife and two adopted children, has been arrested only for bookmaking.

Federal agents are now digging into the compost pile of California crime in search of federal violations. Many top racketeers, rather than risk a federal rap, are taking to flight like so many startled quail.

The man who has thrown the scare into them is Attorney General Robert Kennedy. His crackdown on organized crime, known as Operation Big Squeeze, is driving them out of business.

If the mobsters who flourish like bloated spiders on the profits of organized crime were to ape the FBI and publish their own list of Ten Most Wanted Men, there is no doubt whose picture would head it:

That of Attorney General Kennedy.

Chivalry Blooms In U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON—Chivalry is busting out all over the United States Senate.

The choice two-room suite on the front of the Capitol, which had been earmarked for the late Sen. Styles Bridges, has been divided between the two women senators, Margaret Chase Smith, Maine Republican, and Maurine Neuberger, Oregon Democrat.

Particularly valuable is the easy access to the Senate floor. Any refuge in the Capitol is much sought after and especially prized in the long and tiring home stretches which have become an established feature of the sessions. Topping the prize list, however, are the hideaways which minimize the sprints to the chamber to be counted on the roll calls.

The Far West can claim the honor of recognizing Senator Smith's seniority rights so generously and including Senator Neuberger, a freshman, in an extra goodwill dividend.

Democratic Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana made it plain to the rather indifferent Senate architect that the women senators had first call on the Bridges suite. He was backed up by Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona, chairman of the Rules Committee, in whose province rests the hideaway patronage.

A deeply guarded secret is the roster of male members who wanted the matter handled differently. Their suggestions were resolutely vetoed by Mansfield. Senator Smith, he pointed out, had every claim by virtue of seniority and Senator Neuberger was not going to be made to go that long hard route by the present leadership when so desirable a solution had presented itself.

Senator Smith's claims had in fact been recognized some time ago by the then-majority leader, Vice President Lyndon Johnson, with a small and pleasant Capitol office. It was not, however, close to the floor.

Mrs. Smith has put her impress on the handsome new room with its outside window overlooking Capitol Plaza. She has had the walls painted a sparkling but reposeful blue spruce — which is the deep blue green featured in her Skowhegan, Me., home—with white woodwork. On the walls are gilded sconces.

Mrs. Neuberger eyes her colleague's room admiringly but has hesitated to press her personal tastes with respect to her equally large room next door. She seems rather dazzled by her good fortune in acquiring it, but friends are urging her to say a stern "no" to the boarding house tan which seems to be favored by the office of the architect.

The furnishings of the suite had already been ordered by Senator Bridges and have been installed, complete with bar and refrigerator. A powder room divides the individual quarters.

Pools, Pups And Politics

By MONA B. PARKER

The Beatrice Lions Club is sponsoring a project, the worthiness of which no one could dispute. It seeks foster homes for 12 intelligent German shepherd pups whose ultimate purpose in life is to become leader dogs for the blind. A local farm supply store has offered food for the entire group for their year of waiting. The only hitch in the program we can see—who would want to part with a dog he had had for a year? There's even a slight loophole here. Any dog showing shyness or other traits which would make it unsuitable for training or any dog which flunks the course may be kept by the foster owners. We hereby predict an upsurge in doggy delinquency in the Beatrice area, aided, abetted and encouraged by all temporary owners participating.

Mable Grimes, columnist for the Sheridan County Star, takes much pleasure in the thought that as soon as the ground opens up, Rushville will begin construction on a new swimming pool.

She said a rancher there told her not long ago that he was going to make sure every one of his youngsters learned to swim. He himself served four years in the Navy and offered the wry comment that "if I'd ever fallen off the ship, I'd never come up because I can't swim a stroke."

☆ ☆ ☆

The Burt County Plaindealer is heartily in favor of a new and concentrated program to improve the teaching of English in the nation's public schools. From there, the Plaindealer hopes they'll go on to the imparting of a few of the fundamentals of spelling, too — "lest the sticklers among us forsake Webster and in our capitulation simply accept the corruptions with which we are so aggravatingly confronted."

Harold Spence of the Holdrege Citizen says a fellow he knows has a car so old that he is thinking of asking for both upper and lower plates when he calls at the county treasurer's office to pick up his license tags.

☆ ☆ ☆

There was a time when Art Riedesel welcomed election years. He was a printer's devil then and "visiting politicians always had 50 cents in their pockets for some boy to put up their campaign placards."

He's editor of the Ashland Gazette now and "we must confess we get a little weary shaking hands with office-seekers."

There is one small cheering element, however. "Their numbers are drastically reduced after the primaries."

Art Henrickson was studying the item about the prisoners who existed 90 days on survival rations and reported the fare quite monotonous. About 18 years ago, he recalled, he and many another learned not to turn up their noses at anything on the table.

"The stuff our mess sergeant was ladling out was worse than anything we have ever had before or would ever have again."

The only antidote effective among them was a large chaw of tobacco after each meal to sort of "cure" what had gone before.

The Dawson County Herald at Lexington told about a man who was cooking for his family of 10 youngsters, with his wife away. For breakfast, he fried three pansful of steak and cut up two fruitcakes. At least, no one could say that the brood was not well fed.

The Background

Lincoln, Neb.

May I share a personal response to the article which appeared in The Star of Feb. 5 under the headline: "Teens Told Sex Good."

For two days I have tried to rationalize this article in favor of the reporter, but it seems in vain. The Lincoln Youth Council desires and needs publicity, but not this kind.

May I share some of the things which were left out of the article:

(1) The meeting was sponsored by the Lincoln Youth Council as a part of its observance of Christian Youth Week.

(2) The context and background of the quotes were ignored. The quotes in the article were mostly parts of sentences given as answers by the panelists to questions from the teen-agers. Of course "sex is good," but only if seen as a gift of God's creation which we are responsible to use constructively.

The panel also said that sex was spiritual, in that it possessed characteristics which transcended the physical aspects of it; and that sex was sacred in that in marriage, God's love can flow into another person's life to bring renewal of personality and reconciliation of the person of God and his spouse.

(3) It was the purpose of the panel to guide the youth in discovering the Christian view of sex which would produce a responsible and constructive use of it in the lives of the youth.

Without this background, the article makes the meeting appear as editors of romance magazines were out drumming up business.

I appreciate the problems of space; however, it would have been better to have said nothing at all than to give the impression left by the article.

Parents and churchmen alike need the help of The Star and other mass communication systems to interpret a decent and wholesome view of sex to the culture of Lincoln, especially its young people.

Call For Facts

Lincoln, Neb.

Concerning Cecil E. Matthews' contribution of Feb. 7, I am intrigued by his bold assumption of factual accuracy and would appreciate reference to the documentation with which he supports his position, particularly in regard to the allegation: "It was left to the commanding officers to do the partitioning of Germany . . ." From a political standpoint, this in itself seems fairly unlikely, especially since none of the governments involved has generally been characterized as a military dictatorship.

If Mr. Matthews will cite specific publications, dates and authorities, I am sure that friend and foe alike will appreciate it.

By Our Actions

Lincoln, Neb.

Both Reporter Woody Howe and The Star should be complimented for the fine feature article in the Feb. 6 edition. No doubt such writing will stir much controversy but I hope that people can see the truth that is before their faces.

Prior to coming to the University of Nebraska, I was an exchange student at International Christian University in Tokyo. When I returned to Nebraska, my eyes were opened to the kind of "subtle discrimination" which Mr. Howe's article pointed out. There are few places in Lincoln where an African foreign student can get his hair cut. The foreign student advisers are too overloaded with work and too little sympathetic of the problems that confront them. Interest in the problem needs to be generated on behalf of others. When I was in Japan I was constantly astonished at the graciousness of my Oriental hosts and very disturbed that we Americans accord our guests much less hospitality.

On the other hand, I have often felt that foreign students were much too sensitive about their plights and difficulties, and exaggerated the small snubs which they encountered. It needs to be remembered that foreign students sometimes purposely live in slum housing because they want to save money and accumulate certain material things which are scarce in their own countries, or send the money home to someone who needs it more.

It has been my experience that almost all return to their native countries with considerable bitterness about the democratic America which is democratic for everybody except minority races. The problem is often that we are afraid to admit there could be and even is discrimination in Lincoln, Nebraska, or if there is, it is said to be one of those "inevitable facts of life."

We Americans are inclined to think very irrationally about the word "communism." It is to be remembered that many of these foreign students come from potentially communist countries, that is, countries which are at present neutralist. We forget that we advertise ourselves by our actions toward them.

Thank You

On behalf of the women bowlers of Lincoln, I would like to express our deepest appreciation to Stella Kaufman, secretary of the Women's Bowling Association, and her fellow workers for the long hard hours they put in last week for the city tournament. Without these people, the tournament would not have been the great success that it was.

ASNE PRESIDENT TELLS AMERICAN PRESS . . .

Try To Bring End To Emotional Binge

Coronado, Calif. (AP)—Felix R. McKnight, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, urged the American press Thursday night to "take off the gloves and try to bring sanity to the emotional binge that has this country dangerously off balance."

McKnight, vice president and executive editor of the Dallas Times Herald, told the annual meeting of the California - Nevada Associated Press:

"The American press is a patriotic press, dedicated more than any other agency to the absolute preservation of our freedoms and the rights of man.

"We are not, as too many charge, Communist dupes because we attempt to follow moderate lines and call for a look at internal bickering. There is not a reputable newspaper in America that would not quickly and without equivocation expose and fight unceasingly any threat that endangers the security and welfare of this nation.

"And I resent to the core these sudden patriots who aimlessly and broadly charge the American press with a lack of concern for the welfare of this country. We were here a long, long time before these groups appeared . . . selling a brand of Americanism they have distorted and molded to their particular purpose."

McKnight said the challenge to newspapers today is objectivity. He called it imperative, saying "no longer can the newspaperman pay mere lip service to his claim of objectivity . . . irresponsibility in the slightest degree cannot be tolerated."

Once, he said, there was a cry from the left of a "one party press" dominated by conservatives. Now, he said, the far right calls it "the leftist press that distorts the nation's image."

"Objectivity? Never has it been more important," he said. "We have rather suddenly become suspected in the eyes of too many Americans and nothing but complete honesty and intelligent reporting can erase this suspicion . . . unfounded though it may be.

Strange Fact

"It is a strange but supportable fact in this new 'agree with me or else' atmosphere that critics of newspapers, on both sides, never complain, never criticize when column space is given to their leader or their group . . . unless they twist the slightest gap in your story into 'biased reporting.'

"But if a newspaper editorially disagrees with their leader or group on certain issues, it is quickly tatooed with 'Pinko' and 'Red' tags. Or, if the shoe happens to be on the 'right' foot, it becomes a fat, capitalistic reactionary with no regard for the welfare of the common man.

"I don't know — I could be wrong — but I cannot recall one single instance in modern history of an American newspaper editor or publisher being charged with subversion or a treasonable act.

tax commissioner listing their Nebraska stockholders.

Such a law is now on the books, but there is no penalty for failure to comply, Long noted, adding that one of the largest corporations in the world, American Telephone and Telegraph, does not report its Nebraska stockholders.

In a discussion on tax-exempt property, Seward County Assessor Fred Bruns suggested there should be periodical review, possibly every 5 years, of all properties exempt from taxation.

Opinions Conflict

He noted a conflict in Nebraska Supreme Court opinions on how exemption should be determined—one which says "exclusive use" of the property is the determining factor, and another which says it should be the "primary or dominant use" of the property.

Bruns also stated that law changes which have exempted grain and livestock from ad valorem taxation have put a greater burden on other types of property.

All assessors present at the meeting indicated the new method of taxing livestock probably will result in less revenue from this class of property than when it was taxed on the old standard.

Conflicts, it insists, should be settled on a basis of ' territorial integrity and charter rights, and . . . services outside corporate limits shall be only by agreement."

Other members of the committee were W. A. Mequire of Stratton, McCook Public Power District, and Lyle Marotz of Hoskins, Wayne County Public Power District.

Sorensen Cited

Among other resolutions were approval of an all-federal Colorado River Storage Project transmission system, and a citation honoring the late C. A. Sorensen of Lincoln as "father of the public power program" in Nebraska.

Two new members were elected to the 9-man executive committee: Floyd Edwards, Butler County Rural Public Power District, and Al Augustine, Loup Valleys Rural Public Power District.

NREA's semi-annual convention will be held in North Platte next September.

Bruns also said he personally was against the $200 exemption on household goods as a "definite loophole which is doing the state no good."

Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt asked Bruns whether he thought tax laws in recent years had broadened or narrowed Nebraska's tax base, and Bruns answered he believes it has been narrowed.

Long joined him stating that "every time we have a constitutional amendment on taxation it narrows the tax base."

Adams County Assessor Roscoe Story was questioned about administrative problems and the advisability of making assessors appointive offices rather than elective.

Can't Evade Pressure

He suggested there was no way to evade political pressure as such, and that appointing assessors would still leave them "under the thumb" of those who appoint them.

Story said that "political results" were a poor excuse for determining how people should be taxed and that any public official responsible for making tax decisions should have "enough backbone" to make decisions on what was right.

The committee's afternoon session with the assessors followed a morning meeting at which Chairman Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud told members they would have to make up their minds by Friday afternoon whether to go ahead with their tax study.

The committee was created by the 1961 Legislature to make a study of taxation in Nebraska, and was appropriated $30,000 with which to conduct such a survey.

Various tax experts have told the committee these funds were not sufficient to cover a comprehensive survey, and there has been considerable dissension within the committee on how to progress.

'Just The Findings'

Sen. Lloyd Stalder of Humboldt said he did not think the committee should make any recommendation on the type of taxation Nebraska needs, but should just present its findings to the Legislature.

Sen. Bowen said, "If this committee doesn't have the gumption to make recommendations, we might as well quit."

The committee will interview Dr. H. F. McClelland, economist at Claremont College for Men at Claremont, Calif., Friday morning on the possibility of his conducting the tax study, and will reach a decision Friday afternoon on what course to follow.

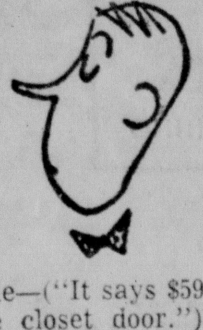
POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Women make 90 per cent of the final decisions on vacations, according to people who make such statistics.



So we sent our girl O'Hara down to Miami where they have the greatest concentration of luxury hotels in America. From an infield - sized suite in the plush Deauville—("It says $59 a day on the closet door.") —she reports:

☆ ☆ ☆

"This affair is an allout effort on the part of the Miami Beach Hotel Association to see that these $59-a-day jobs stay filled. They brought in 1600 travel agents and 100 travel writers from all over the country.

"Nothing is too good for us. And I think a major part of the people feel that is the right attitude.

"Florida ranks 22nd among the States—it is officially the Sunshine State, by the way.

"The population is 4,890,000. But the winter visitors, New York alone, must boost that another 1,000,000. It's hard to find a real Florida native along Miami Beach.

"The State flower is the orange blossom. The State bird is the mockingbird. And the State motto is 'In God We Trust.'

"Tobacco is a big industry. They have cigarette machines. But all you really have to do is step outside and light up your end of the patch.

"There is a big moss-gathering plant at Gainesville. And Cottondale has been made famous by the hens who compete every year in the National Egg Laying Contest. This is sponsored by the University of Florida at the National Egg Laying Experimental Station.

"It is a sort of World Series for hens but they bring their own Spaulding equipment.

"The big sport—aside from playing the horses at Hialeah —is sunning on the beach.

"There is a good deal of serious drinking in this crowd. And sometimes the air seems to be wall-to-wall Scotch and spray net.

"Everybody wears a healthy tan and many of them look like the Santa Fe route Indians who weave for you at the train stops. Only these have all been through Elizabeth Arden's hands.

☆ ☆ ☆

"One thing with all this gorgeous weather that is presented so convincingly, they sometimes have hurricanes. They don't like to mention it too much. But there are materials and instructions around.

"The hurricane kit is made up of a handful of candles, matches, a bottle of Scotch and a transistor radio. You should fill your bathtub with water in case of a shortage. Choose an interesting hurricane partner and let 'er rip.

☆ ☆ ☆

There is an interesting bar in the basement of a supermarket. You have to go through the turnstiles and back of the baked bean special and downstairs.

"This place is called 'The Dungeon'. They have a fluorescent light that makes everything white stand out. All the guys wearing white socks are humiliated real fast.

"The other standout is an out-of-this-world motel built by Jimmy Hoffa and called 'The Castaways.' It goes on and on—on both side of the block.

"The bar is called 'The Wreck.' It is convincingly presented as a sunken ship — portholes covered with blue and green paper and a wiggly light.

"The reason for the inside information is that the weather went to pieces, much to the shame of the Miami Beach Hotel Association. So I didn't have to buy a summer wardrobe after all. And this saved us a good deal of money. end-it o'hara."

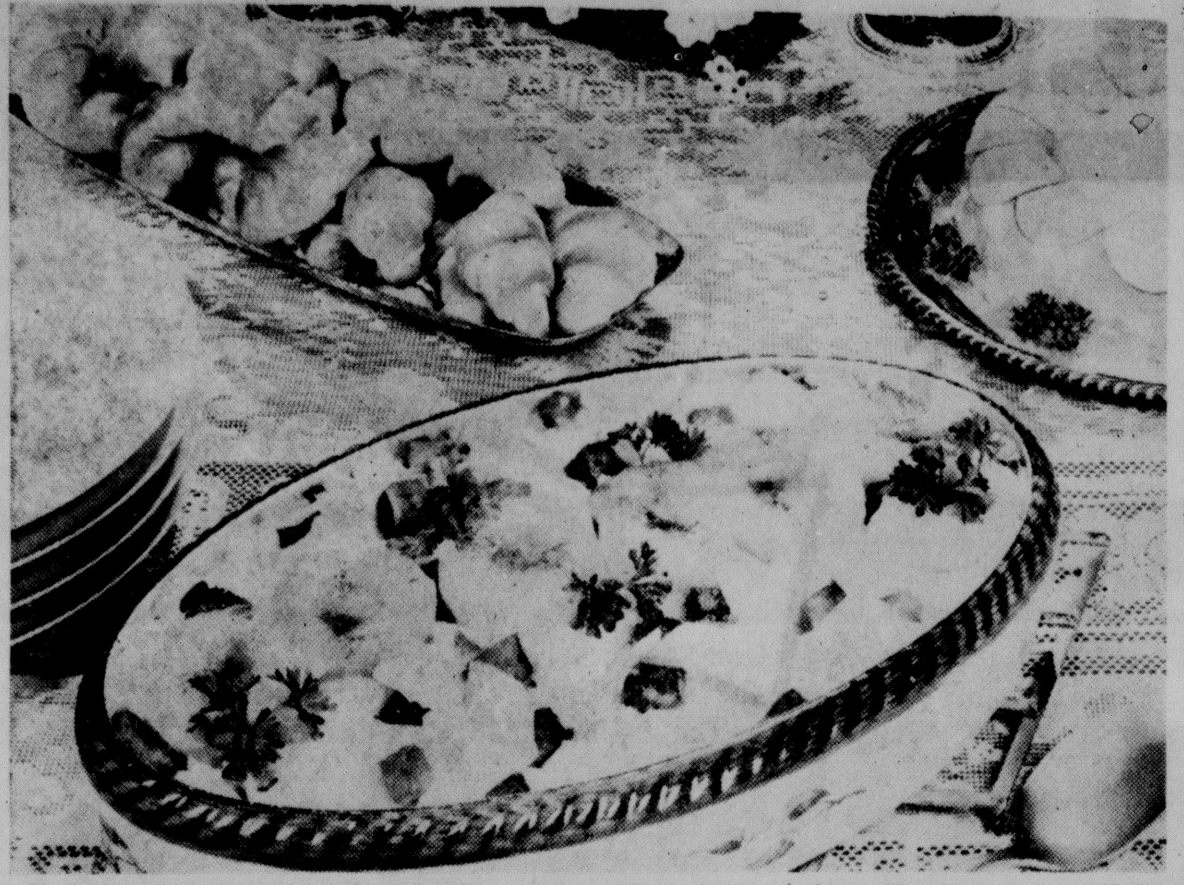
Taking "Hot Dish"? Try This



If it is your turn to take the "hot dish" to the next club meeting — or to your supper club, we heartily recommend that you consider the casserole. But this isn't just ANY casserole

POTATO-HAM CASSEROLE

1 package pre-slided frying potatoes
2 tablespoons soft butter
3 tablespoons flour
1 can (10½ oz.) cream of chicken soup, undiluted
2 cups milk
2½ cups cubed cooked ham
1 can (1 lb.) cling peach halves
2 tablespoons melted butter
Nutmeg
Parsley

Cook potatoes as directed on package, except reduce cooking time to 5 minutes. Drain. Meanwhile blend together butter and flour. Add to drained potatoes along with soup and packet of seasonings from potato package. Add milk, stir smooth. Add potatoes and ham. Turn into 2-quart shallow casserole. Bake, uncovered, in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 40 minutes. Drain peach halves. Place in a row down middle of casserole. Brush peaches with melted butter. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Return to oven. Bake an additional 10 to 15 minutes. Garnish with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

POTATO-HERB CRESCENTS

2 tablespoons instant mashed potato granules
¾ cup milk
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons herb seasoning
1½ teaspoons caraway seed
¼ cup sugar
6 tablespoons vegetable shortening
2 packages or cakes active dry or compressed yeast
½ cup warm water
4 - 4½ cups sifted all-purpose flour

Prepare mashed potato according to package directions for 1 serving (makes ½ cup mashed potatoes). Scald milk, pour into mixing bowl. Add salt, herb seasoning, caraway seed, sugar, shortening, and mashed potatoes. Cool to lukewarm. Meanwhile, soften yeast in warm water. Stir and combine with milk mixture. Add 2½ cups of the flour. Beat thoroughly. Stir in 1½ cups additional flour. Turn out on floured board. Knead until satin smooth, 5 to 10 minutes. Let rise in a warm place about 40 minutes or until doubled. Divide into 3 portions. Roll each portion into a round about 9-inches in diameter. Brush top with melted shortening. Cut pie fashion into 8 or 12 wedges. Roll each wedge from broad to narrow end. Place on greased baking sheet, point underneath. Brush tops with melted shortening. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F) 12 to 15 minutes or until done. Makes 2 to 3 dozen depending on size.

Speaking Of FOOD

Authentic And Basic

A salad is only as good as its dressing. No matter how fresh the fruit, how tender the meat, how crisp the greens, a salad with a nondescript dressing is seldom a success.

To delight your salad-eating family and friends, why not try your hand at making three authentic basic dressings, French, cooked, and mayonnoise?

For example, to the French dressing you can make such intriguing additions as watercress, cucumber, Bar-le-Duc, and many others. The recipe is simple and can be whipped together in just minutes.

Combine 2-3rds c. olive oil, 1-3rd c. vinegar (tarragon, wine, cider, or malt), 1 tsp. salt, and ¼ tsp. pepper in bowl, jar, or bottle; beat or shake until blended. Cover and refrigerate. Shake well before using. Makes 1 cup.

The Cooked Dressing, is especially delicious combined with relish, celery, onion, dill, or caviar.

And the Mayonnaise Dressing is taste-perfect mixed with black olives, orange rind, curry, or gherkins. To prepare it combine ½ tsp. sugar, ½ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. dry mustard, and a few grains of cayenne in a deep bowl; add 1 egg; mix thoroughly. Add 2 tsp. tarragon vinegar slowly, stirring constantly. Measure 1 c. olive or salad oil. Beat in 3 teaspoons oil, a drop at a time, using rotary beater, or electric mixer at medium speed. Beat in remaining oil a small amount at a time until mixture thickens. Be sure mixture is smooth before making next addition of oil. Stir in 1 tbs. lemon juice. Store, covered, in refrigerator. Makes 1¼ cups.

Hollandaise is the aristocrat of sauces, but many shy from making it because of its tendency to curdle. This is caused by cooking the sauce too fast and at too high a temperature. When this happens you can make the sauce creamy smooth again by adding a little boiling water, drop by drop, beating vigorously. Remember: don't let the water in the bottom of the double boiler boil, nor allow the pan, in which you are cooking the sauce, to touch the water. Stir constantly until mixture is thickened. Remove from hot water, reheat just before serving.

Ted A. Sick Heads NU Foundation

Ted A. Sick of Lincoln, president of Security Mutual Life Insurance Company, was elected president of the University of Nebraska Foundation at the group's annual Board of Trustees meeting, held Thursday afternoon at the Nebraska Center.

Sick

A trustee of the Foundation for many years, Mr. Sick succeeds John K. Selleck of Lincoln, who has served as president for the past 4 years.

'Finest Year In History'

In addition, the Trustees were told by Director-Secretary Perry W. Branch that the Foundation had "its finest year in its history." He reported that assets now stand at $4,328,068, nearly a $100,000 increase over last year. New funds this past year totaled $1,111,019, up $40,000 over last year and the third year in excess of $1 million.

Other officers elected were C. W. Battey of Lincoln, chairman of the board of the First Continental National Bank, as vice president; and Howard Hadley of Lincoln, retired vice president of First Continental, who was re-elected treasurer.

In his annual report, Mr. Branch reported that the Foundation contributed $459,619 for the benefit of the University—an increase of $99,744 over last year. In addition, the Foundation turned over $966,443 in pledges to the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

Among the benefits he listed were:

$242,875 for scholarships, grants-in-aid, and fellowships.

$138,642 for research projects.

$12,875 for University State Museum improvements and exhibits.

$43,034 for faculty and University support.

Record Of Alumni Donors

Mr. Branch pointed out that the number of alumni donors this year hit a new record—a total of 6,453 donors, or 625 more than last year.

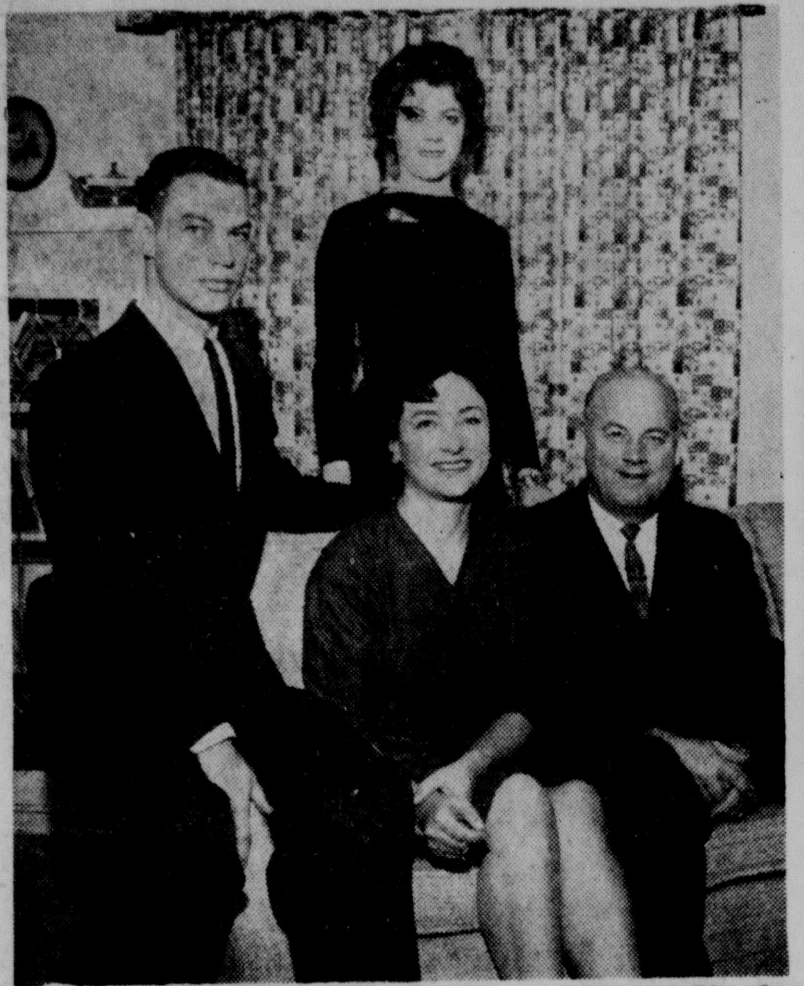
Families Of New NU Coaches



The new University of Nebraska head football coach, Bob Devaney, probably needs no introduction to Lincoln — or Nebraska. But we are sure that everyone will be interested in Mr. Devaney's family, and the families of the four assistant coaches who also are coming from Laramie and who will be residents of Lincoln.

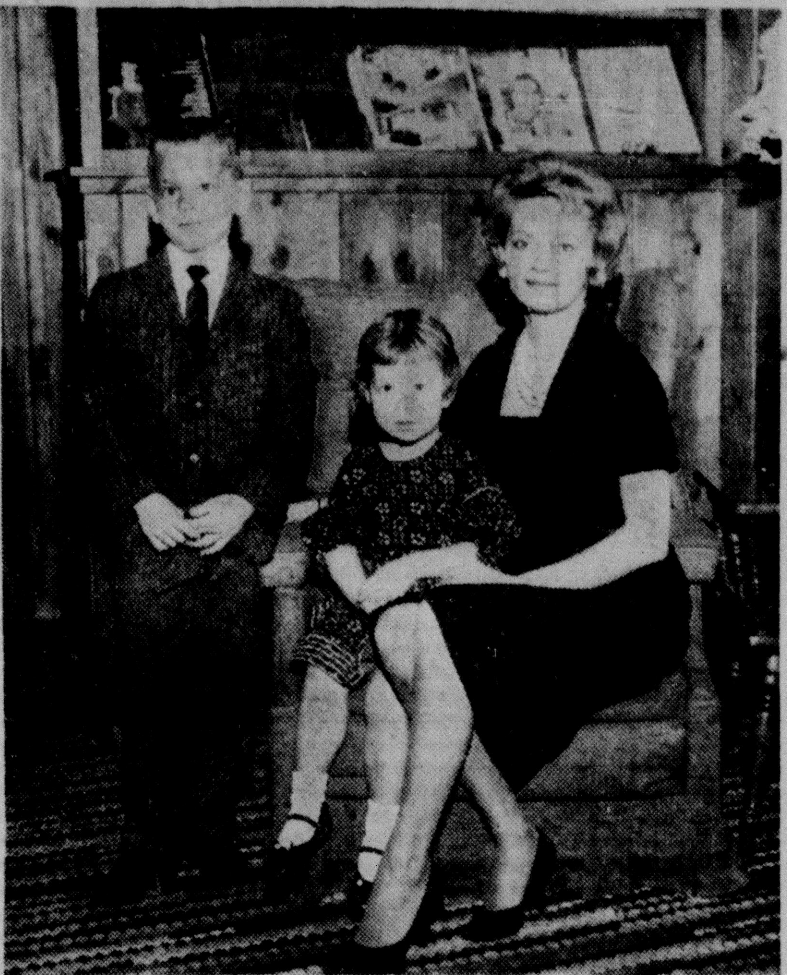
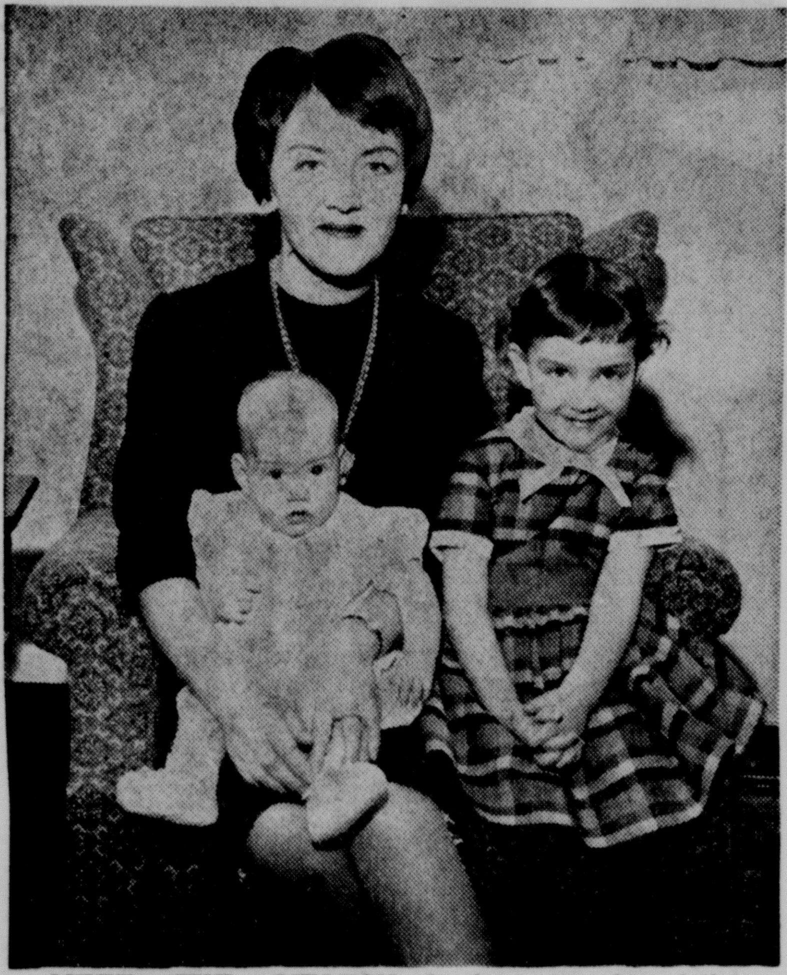
The four lovely ladies in the family of James Ross, end coach and defensive secondary coach include Mrs. Ross (seated at center) and the three Ross daughters — left to right — Miss Sharon Ross, 20 years old and a sophomore at the University of Wyoming; Kathy, 13 years of age and in the eighth grade at Laramie Junior High school, and Peggy — a ninth grader at Laramie Junior High School.

Accompanying his family to Lincoln will be four and a half months-old Kris Kringle, the adored Schnauser who is making himself quite comfortable on Mrs. Ross's lap.

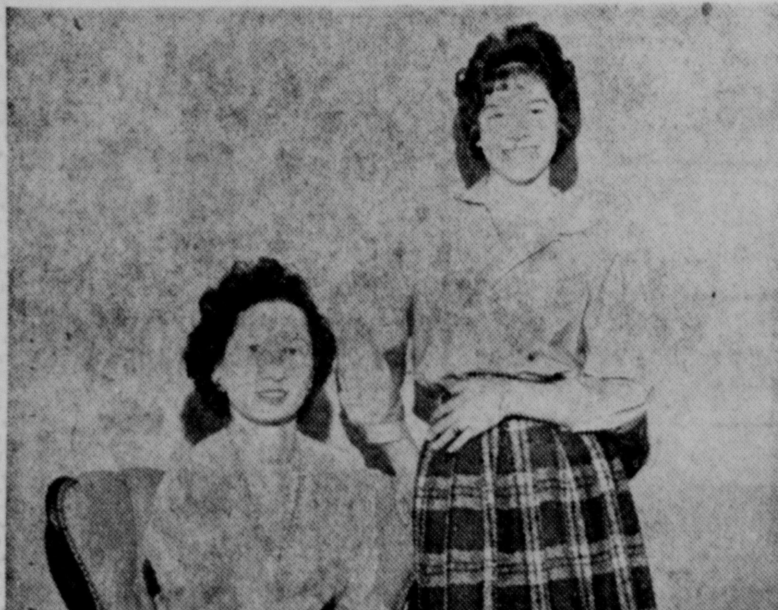


The threesome in the picture at the left includes Mrs. Carl Selmer and the two young Selmers, son Brian, who is seven years old, and daughter Kirby three and a half years old.

Mr. Selmer is the new offensive line coach.



MEET THE MELTON family — or at least three-fourths of it. In the picture are Mrs. John Melton, wife of Nebraska's new head freshman coach and the two Melton children, Cindy, who is four years old, and Margaret, just five months old.



NOW IT IS time to present Mrs. Mike Corgan and one of the three Corgan daughters, Shannon, who is 14 years old, and in the ninth grade at Laramie Junior High School. Mr. Corgan, as you probably know, is Nebraska's new backfield coach.

But more about the Corgan family — Miss Sheila Corgan, 19, is a freshman at Michigan State. We think that you will be more than a little interested in learning that Miss Sheila was Junior Miss of Wyoming in 1961 a fact that doesn't surprise us in the least — We have seen her picture.

A third Corgan daughter resides in Washington D.C., and now is Mrs. Donald Leeber — the former Sharon Corgan.

Talk Town

Before we become involved with the future and its calendar which, by the way, includes more courtesies for Miss Ann Mockett, we'll talk about the weekend for a moment.

On Saturday evening the members of the Merrimyx Dancing Club will have what they facetiously call a "poor man's vacation"—a Las Vegas party.

And planning the details of the affair is a committee which is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kruse, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ledenburger, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Mayfield, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Vanice and Mr. and Mrs. Harold McKie.

The guest list will include Capt. and Mrs. Nicholas Sargologof, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schmadeke, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Mitchell, Miss Margaret Wewell and T. Earl Williams.

* * *

Now for late February activities—For one thing there will be a number of homecomers, returning from winter holidays—and there also will be travelers—off for winter vacations in sunnier climes. All of these—the homecomers and the travelers are on the "unmentionable" list at the moment—but the day will come.

* * *

Tuesday, Feb. 20, is to be a busy day for Miss Ann Mockett who arrives in Lincoln next Tuesday for a week's stay.

Complimenting Miss Mockett, whose marriage to Arthur Johnson takes place in Los Angeles early in April, on Tuesday morning will be Mrs. W. Irl Stebbins, her daughter Mrs. Gene Gessner of Omaha; and Mrs. C. Myron Loomis and her daughter, Mrs. Richard Moulton. The party will be a 10:30 o'clock coffee at the home of Mrs. Stebbins.

* * *

Another Tuesday hostess will be Miss Mockett's aunt, Mrs. Lester M. Buckley, who has invited guests for a 1 o'clock luncheon at her home, in courtesy to her niece.

Voice Is A Great Factor

Josephine Lowman

One's voice is the main means of communicating with others. Gestures and facial expressions of course play their part when we talk, but the voice is certainly a great factor in the impression we make on others.

Even when we do not know a person, we form a definite opinion and paint a clear picture of the individual when we hear her or him speak over the telephone or on radio.

A voice can be soothing, friendly, like music, warm, exciting or intriguing, or it can be harsh, irritating or antagonistic. Many times HOW we say something is more important in its impact on others than WHAT we say. We can say a perfectly harmless thing, but if our voice is harsh or tense, the person with whom we are talking may get an entirely wrong impression of what we are trying to say. On the other hand, we often can talk "straight from the shoulder" and get away with it, if our voice is friendly and calm.

Some of the nicest people fall into this trap. They allow the hurry or excitement or fatigue or worries of their daily lives to color their voices. Therefore, their fatigue or worry is transmitted to others who have no connection with either and who, therefore, misunderstand.

I am sure that you must have had this experience. You hang up the telephone, or think over a face-to-face conversation and say to yourself, "I must have sounded abrupt" or "I sounded peeved because I was worried about so and so."

You voice can be your best friend or your worst enemy. The way you breathe has an influence on your voice, too. Deep breathing exercises are healthful and relaxing and by doing them you may improve your delivery.

If you would like to have my deep breathing exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 26, "Fountain of Youth," to Josephine Lowman in care of The Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb.

Dear Abby

No Beau Needed

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I recently married a 42-year-old man who acts like he's 90. Before we were married all he did was brag about what terrific condition he was in. Now his excuse is that he led such an active life when he was single, it must have slowed him down. I am 33 and far from ready to sit and knit while he reads. His doctor says he's fit as a fiddle. I am seriously considering getting myself a boy friend.

NOT KIDDING

DEAR NOT: If your husband is "fit as a fiddle," you don't need a new beau. What you need is a little imagination. Take the lead and stir up some excitement.

DEAR ABBY: Ross and I went together for two years. He is 29 and I am 24. I knew all along I wasn't in love with him, but I didn't want to hurt his feelings because he was so completely in love with me.

Finally, I couldn't put off his proposals any longer. I told him I thought of him only as a "friend" and I didn't think I should see him any more. He cried like a baby, so I agreed to date him if we could be just "friends." He begs me to kiss him and I feel so sorry for him I give in, but I don't feel anything. Now he's talking marriage again. How can I untangle myself from him? He says rather than break up with me, I should continue to date him and we will be "just friends." Please help me!

SOFT-HEARTED

DEAR SOFT-HEARTED: Don't kid yourself. He might be a "friend" to you, but you are more than a "friend" to him. He hopes to wear you down and get you to marry him after all (This has been known to happen.) Break—and break clean. He'll live.

News Of Club, PTA Activities

At the meeting of the board of the Lincoln YWCA on Thursday, new officers for the coming year were named.

Mrs. Leonard E. Hoover will serve as president assisted by Mrs. Emmett W. Orme, first vice president; Mrs. Elden B. Hitz, second vice president; Mrs. Russell F. Richmond, third vice president; Mrs. G. W. Knight, secretary; Mrs. Earl Carter, treasurer; and Mrs. Kenneth L. Lawson, assistant treasurer.

Four Lincoln citizens were honored by Meadow Lane PTA on Tuesday evening when they were presented PTA Life Memberships for their work with Lincoln youth. Those honored were the Rev. Warren Swartz, minister of St. Mark's Methodist Church; Dr. Foster Owen, PTA past president; Lyle Bargman, principal of Meadow Lane School; and Dr. Charles Colman, head of the Romance Language department at the University of Nebraska.

Fun News In Suburbia

PARK MANOR

Even a business trip can be a very interesting and pleasant experience we have learned. Last week, Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Miller were in New York City and Washington, D.C., on business. However, we understand that in addition to the "business" there was quite a bit of pleasure involved. While Mr. and Mrs. Miller were in Washington they were able to sit in on sessions of the Senate and House of Representatives. They also were able to take the Congressional tour through the White House, which we understand is more extensive than the regular tour which is open to the public.

In New York, the Millers attended a Security Council meeting at the United Nations and they saw the broadway production of "My Fair Lady." Mr. and Mrs. Miller returned home on Sunday evening.

Also returning this week from a combined business and pleasure trip were Mr. and Mrs. George B. Cochran. Mr. and Mrs. Cochran left on Sunday for Kansas City, Mo., where Mr. Cochran attended a series of meetings. They returned on Tuesday evening.

And leaving next Tuesday will be Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Adams and three of their sons, Jeffrey, Steve, and David. First stop will be Emmettsburg, Iowa, where Mrs. Adams and the children will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Meade. Mr. Adams will go on to Minneapolis, Minn., on business and on Saturday, he will return to Emmettsburg to accompany his family home to Lincoln.

A Saturday trip was strictly "business" for quite a few fifth and sixth grade boys from Holmes School. The boys are members of the Gray Y basketball team and went to Grand Island by bus to play Grand Island's Gray Y team. We can imagine the bus trip itself was quite exciting for the young athletes.

Not everyone has been leaving Lincoln, however. Last week end there were guests in Park Manor. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Binning had as their houseguests for the week end Mr. Binning's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Binning of Kimball.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Nelson will be dining out with Mr. and Mrs. Allen Farmer.

Valentine's Day is just around the corner, as you no doubt have discovered if you have children in the house. In fact you probably have been spending much of your time getting valentines made and put into a box to take to school.

What better excuse for a party could there be than Valentine's Day? On Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. William Spaulding will be host and hostess at their home at a Valentine Party. Their guests will include the members of the Couples Club of the Vine Congregational Church. Between 12 and 15 couples are expected to attend.

Bridge, also, is not to be forgotten this week. On Thursday, Feb. 1, Mrs. Robert Wohlers was hostess to eight members of her bridge club at the group's regular meeting.

And on Saturday evening, Feb. 3, Mr. and Mrs. Don Biehn were host and hostess at their home to five couples for an evening of bridge.

EASTBOROUGH

There is a tentative moving date in the offing for Mr. and Mrs. John T. Funckes and their four children, Linda, Robert, Jay, and Mary Elizabeth. Sometime this month, Mr. Funckes and his family will move to California where they will reside in the Los Angeles vicinity. The Funckes family presently is residing at 1021 Carlos Drive.

PATRICIAN HEIGHTS

On Sunday, Feb. 4, Mr. and Mrs. John Janousek became the parents of a son. The baby's name is Dale Allen and he has a brother, 15-month-old Stephen John.

Dale's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Janousek of Brainard, and Mrs. Ervin Kiene. Mr. and Mrs. Janousek plan to arrive in Lincoln on Monday to see their new grandson. They will be here several weeks.

A week ago Monday was anniversary day for Mr. and Mrs. William J. Reilley. Jan. 29, was the day they were married eight years ago, and we understand they celebrated the occasion by attending the March of Dimes Square Dance held at the Antelope Park pavilion.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dale, 4433 Hillside, are the parents of a son, Randall LeRoy, who was born on Wednesday, Jan. 31, at Lincoln General Hospital. The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brockel of El Monte, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dale. Young Randall also has a 13-month-old sister, Sharlene Ranea, who at present is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Dan Brodie in Bennet.

Honored At Dinner

Honored at a farewell dinner last Saturday evening at Colonial Inn was George Taylor, whose office coworkers presented him with a gift as well as an "admiralship" in the Nebraska Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, who have made their home in Lincoln since 1929, will leave in March following Mr. Taylor's retirement to make their home at Yucca Valley, Calif.

Square Dances

Square dance clubs entertaining this weekend include the Swing 'Em In Gingham Club, which will meet Friday evening at the IOOF Hall, 2735 No. 48th.

Dancing Saturday evening will be the Northeast Jeans And Calico Club at the IOOF Hall, and the Promenaders Club, which will meet at the Newman Hall, 16th and Q.

U.S. Sending Gen. Harkins To Direct Action In So. Viet Nam

Washington (AP)—Underscoring its determination to win, the United States established Thursday a major new military command to direct ever-widening American efforts to block a Communist conquest of South Viet Nam.

The Defense Department ordered Gen. Paul D. Harkins, now deputy army commander in the Pacific, to Saigon to take immediate charge.

On decision of President Kennedy and the joint chiefs of staff, the 57-year-old lieutenant general was promoted to 4-star rank, lending added importance to the post.

Copter Control

The stated reason for the move was to set up U.S. operational control for American helicopter, reconnaissance and other missions in support of the South Vietnamese Army against Communist guerrillas.

It was described as an outgrowth of the greatly expanded U.S. effort which began last fall, rather than heralding any big new help.

The South Vietnamese Army is being built to 200,000 men with U.S. money, equipment and advice. The Communist Viet Cong forces are estimated to number about 20,000 and are supported by Red North Viet Nam.

No Commitment

A Pentagon spokesman said the move implies no commitment to send U.S. fighting forces to South Viet Nam.

But the new command would provide a framework for direction of any American fighting units—if a decision were made to throw them in.

Several U.S.-manned helicopters have either been downed or damaged while ferrying South Vietnamese troops into action. U.S. officials have insisted the Americans are only supporting the Vietnamese, not fighting themselves.

Hubby Can't Give Away Red Feather's 40 Cats

Chicago (UPI) — Once upon a time there was an Indian princess named Red Feather who had a husband and 40 cats.

The husband, who was known as Quentin La Pash, loved Red Feather but couldn't stand the cats.

But Red Feather, La Pash said, loved her cats more than anything.

Sadly, La Pash, who is 39, left Red Feather's apartment Wednesday night and sought comfort and assistance from policemen Robert Smith and Roscoe Knox.

Was It Legal?

With due regard to his 42-year-old Red Feather, La Pash wanted to know if it was legal to keep so many cats in just one apartment.

Because of the cats, he mourned, he has to sleep in a separate room. The princess, who is a Blackfoot Indian and a graduate of the Purdue University school of animal husbandry, takes her slumber with the cats.

"I'm fed up with sleeping in the same house with those cats," La Pash pleaded. "Take them away."

As Smith and Knox made their way to Red Feather's abode, La Pash explained "my wife loves animals. Living with her 6 years has been a one ring circus."

Not Exact Count

Smith persuaded the princess to let him look at her cats. He reported it looked like there were only 25 of them instead of 40, but confessed "they were too active for an exact count."

As far as he could figure, Smith said, the cats were happy with their princess. A man from the anti-cruelty society agreed that Red Feather was kind to her cats.

And, unless the heart of Red Feather melts, it appeared Thursday that the princess and her cats will live happily ever after with La Pash in the other room.

By Don Bryant

Sports Editor, The Star

I have nothing but deep sympathy for the young Marine, John Uelses, the world's first 16-foot pole vaulter.

Instead of basking in the spotlight he so richly deserves, he must dodge brickbats and endure pooh-poohs.

So what if he did use a fiberglass vaulting pole?

Nary a soul, official or otherwise, ruled before Uelses went 16-feet that using a fiberglass pole was a sneaky trick. But since his historic feat, the big debate has been raging.

Understandably, of course, the initial belly-ache came from Don Bragg, holder of the old record, who sought to become the first 16-footer, if he couldn't play Tarzan.

There aren't many fellows—including myself—who would climb a 16-foot ladder and jump over the bar. But to hear Bragg talk, Uelses did nothing more than take an elevator or ride a catapult.

The thought persists that if Bragg really wants to prove something, he'll get himself a fiberglass pole and breeze over 16-feet. Since it's so easy, maybe vaulting 16-feet will replace the twist as the latest rage.

The point is that many boys have been using the fiberglass pole, and were welcome at all track meets, but only Uelses has been able to clear 16-feet.

Also, he had more than his share of grief after first clearing 16-feet. When he became the first vaulter to achieve what then was considered orbit, a bumbling photographer knocked off the bar before an official measurement could be taken.

With his chance for a world record kayoed, the young fellow simply repeated the job the next night. As far as I'm concerned, vaulting over 16-feet two successive nights is a magnificent performance—whether he was using steel, aluminum, bamboo, fiberglass, pogo stick, rocket fuel or a slingshot.

Touchy Lot

Bragg's attitude, however, must be considered in the light of experience. It is a historic fact that pole vaulters usually have the temperament of Metropolitan prima donnas. They love to be pampered and billing means every bit as much to them as it does to Gina Lollabrigida.

One of the great feuds featured Nebraska's Don Cooper and Bob Laz of Illinois. Coop became the first collegian to vault 15 feet—but didn't get to savor the fruits of fame long because Laz beat his record by a half inch just two hours later on the coast.

In the winter of 1951, Cooper was the leading college vaulter with a 14-4½. A week later Laz went 14-8, almost causing Moose to have convulsions.

Helpful Hint

Cooper and Oklahoma track coach Bill Carroll had some great hassles when they were battling each other for Big 8 laurels. During meets, each would try to think of some gimmick to bug the other. After the meets, however, they were great buddies.

Carroll tells about Cooper's favorite dose of unnerve tonic during meets at Nebraska's indoor track.

A concrete support angles upward from a pillar near the pole vault pit. While there is plenty of room, it does present an optical illusion, particularly to the fans, giving the impression the vaulter may soar into the support.

Cooper, feigning great concern for the opposing vaulter who was his likely challenger, would nonchalantly remark:

"There shouldn't be any trouble, but you want to be careful of that pillar."

Then Coop would chuckle—and usually win—as his tormented opponent approached the pit, thoughts divided between vaulting and that ominous pillar.

—VAULTER HAS FLU—

Uelses Is Lost; Meet Goes On

Philadelphia (AP) — With John Uelses, the record breaking pole vaulter, sidelined with influenza, the emphasis of the 18th annual Philadelphia Inquirer track and field meet tonight shifts back to the track.

Uelses, the Marine corporal who last Saturday set an unofficial world record of 16 feet, ¾ inch, is under treatment at the Quantico (Va) Marine Base Hospital. He'll also miss the Los Angeles Times meet Saturday.

To Go On

While the loss of the first man ever to vault over 16 feet is a big disappointment to Inquirer meet officials, and the sellout crowd of 10,650, the show will go on.

Frank Budd, Villanova's 100-yard dash world record holder; Hayes Jones, the almost unbeatable hurdler; Jack Yerman, Olympic quarter miler favored in the 600-yard event, and a couple of classy relay competitions are expected to give the crowd its money's worth.

Budd, whose :09.2 is a world 100-yard mark, carries a two-year indoor unbeaten streak into the Inquirer century. He'll be tested by Paul Drayton, a Villanova teammate; Brooks Johnson of Chicago, and Paul Winder, former Morgan State indoor champ.

Break Leg

Jones also is undefeated indoors over a two-year period in the 50-yard high hurdles, and as one track expert put it, should win his favorite event here unless he breaks a leg. Attempting an upset will be Willie May, like Jones an Olympian; Bill Johnson of Maryland, Russ Rogers of Maryland State and Villanova's Leon Pras.

Jerman, who swept the 600 in New York and Boston last weekend, could find the going rough against Villanova's sensational freshman, Don Webster. The two have met twice this year at the distance and are all even. Webster won on the west coast and Yerman in New York.

The Villanova lad didn't compete at Boston. The meet record of 1:11.9 is a good bet to go in this one.

With Uelses out of the pole vault, Henry Wadsworth of the U.S. Army, Orlando Cruz of Villanova, Mel Schwarz, the Marine from Maryland, and John Belitza, also of Maryland, will shoot at the new world standard.

Standouts in other events are Cary Weisiger, former Duke ace and now a Marine, and Ed Moran, the former Penn State Miler, in the 1,000; Sandor Iharos, Hungarian sub-4-minute miler, and Tom Sullivan, Villanova freshman, in the mile; Jerry Nourse of Duke in the 2-mile, and high jumper Bob Gardner.

90-YEAR-OLD WOMAN BOWLS ON BIRTHDAY

Kansas City, (AP)—Mrs. Mathilda Jones began her birthday doing what pleases her most.

She went bowling.

So what's so unusual about that?

It's her 90th birthday.

When she was 86, Tillie heard someone say no one was too old nor too young to go bowling. Now she says, "never in my life have pleasures been so great as they have in the past 3 or 4 years since I've been bowling."

Tillie rolls an average of 81 and is on a team with 3 other women—the youngest 70.

They call themselves the "old smoothies." The team is in an 8-team handicap league, and although it's in last place, it's won 12 games. Some opponents are 69 years younger.

Others in the line-up include:

Mrs. Betty Moore, 80, who carries an average of 109 and bowls in two leagues.

Mrs. Sally Peck, 71, captain of the team. Sally averages 96 and also bowls in another league. She has 8 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mrs. Inez Eisenfelder, 70, the "baby" of the team. She has an average of 105 and has been bowling for 2½ years. She has 10 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren.

The old smoothies played in the last two annual city tournaments and last year's state tournament in North Kansas City. They've paid the entry fee and are ready to take on the other teams in this year's greater Kansas City Women's Bowling Tournament March 16th.

Twist Tames Skier

Jamacia, Vt. (AP)—Skier Donald Vaugh, 19, of Falmouth, Mass., who survived a weekend on the slopes of Stratton Mountain with nary a bruise, dislocated his knee while demonstrating "the twist" in a Jamacia diner.

Dr. Carlos G. Otis said he had to administer a general anesthetic to put Vaughn's knee back in place.

NWU Could Move Into Tie For 1st

Nebraska Wesleyan can move into a temporary tie for the Nebraska College Conference lead tonight with a victory over Wayne in the Wildcats gym.

The Plainsmen, 6-1 in NCC play, can match Peru's leading 7-1 mark with a win tonight. A loss would drop Dr. Irv Peterson's quintet to 3rd place in the red-hot loop fight.

Wayne will be seeking to avenge a 67-65 setback at the hands of NWU suffered earlier this year. The Wildcats are banking on a tall and talented front line and the home court advantage to jump back into conference contention.

Larry Coney, red-haired Pilger senior, is the chief Wayne threat. The 6-8 hook shooter is the leading NCC scorer for the year. Helping Coney in the front line will be Ken Dahl, 6-6 forward, and Dave Johnson.

Peterson hopes to offset the Wayne height advantage with a hustling backcourt combination. In Duane Eichorn, Ed Stevens, and Don Beckman, the Plainsmen have 3 of the finest guards in the NCC.

Forward Jim Munford and Dick Nelson will have to continue their high scoring antics if NWU hopes to win. Munford, bothered by fouls in his last 5 outings, and Nelson rank 7th and 8th respectively in conference scoring charts.

The game is the first of two important clashes for Wayne. Saturday night the Wildcats face Peru on the Bobcats' maples.

Probable Starters

WESLEYAN	Pos.	WAYNE
Munford (6-4)	f	(6-6) Dahl
Nelson (6-3)	f	(6-2) Johnson
Paul (6-5)	c	(6-6) Coney
Eichorn (5-10)	g	(6-0) Marcelius
Stevens (5-10)	g	(5-8) Goede

D-7 SEEDING TO MURDOCK

Top-seeded Murdock (17-0) will open play in the Class D-7 district basketball tournament at Lincoln Northeast Feb. 20. Semifinals will be played Feb. 22 with the finals Feb. 23.

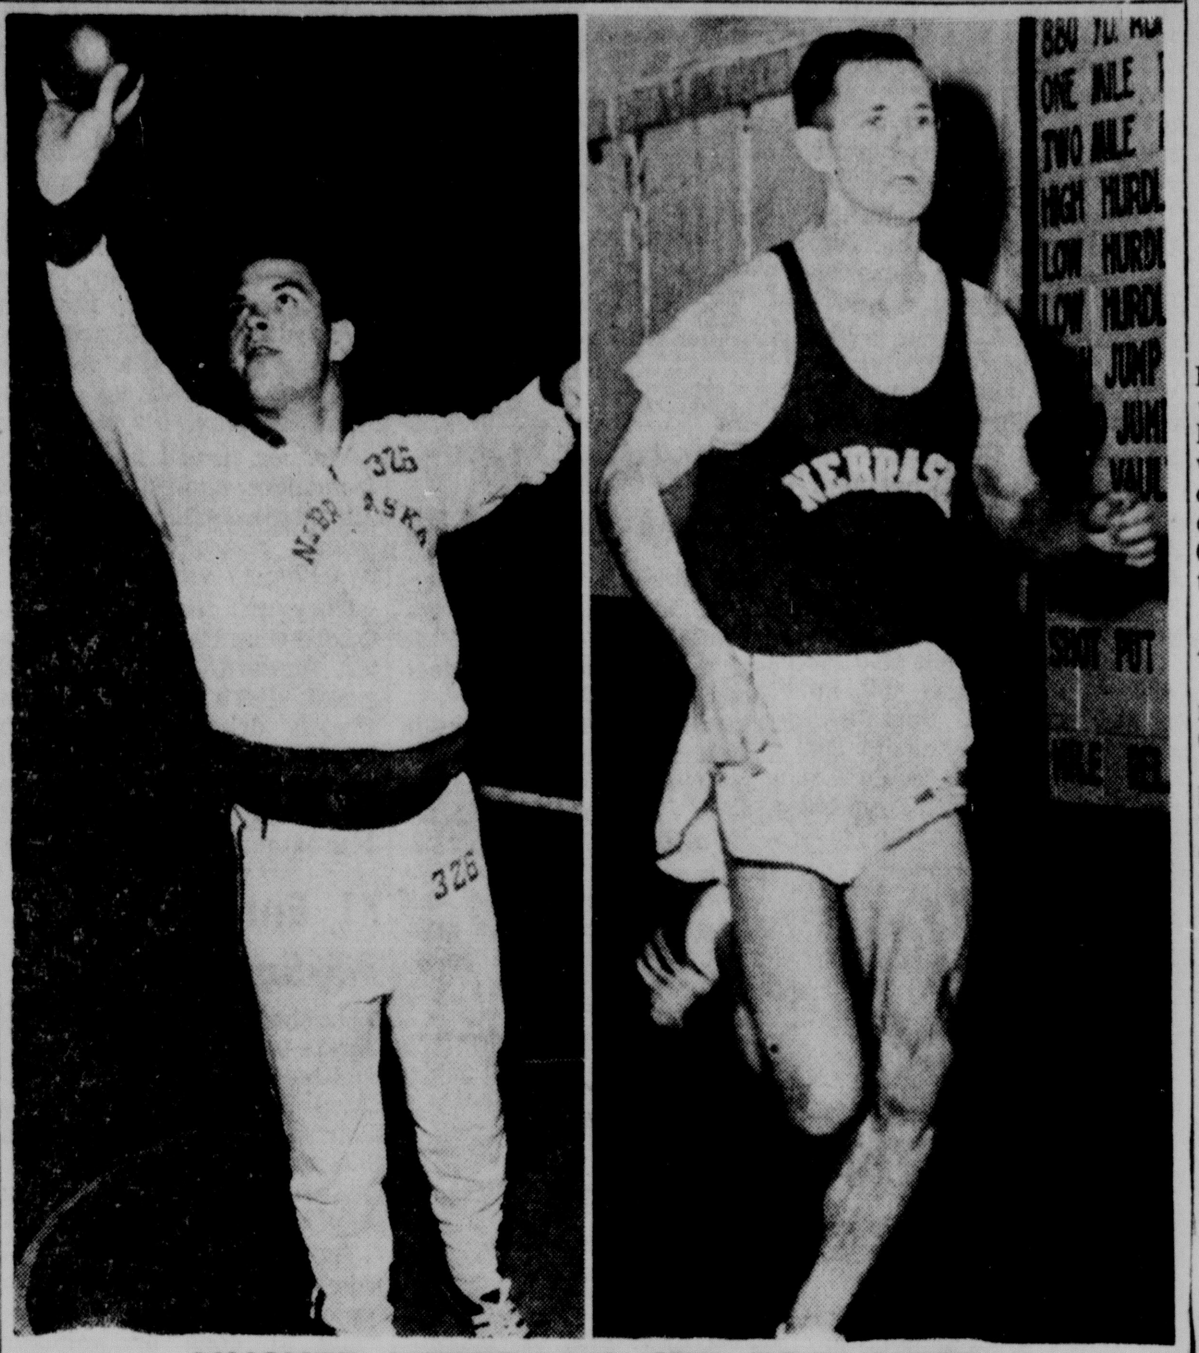
Murdock faces Walton in the 6 p.m., lid-lifter, followed by the Palmyra-Elmwood clash at 7:30 and the Bennet-Douglas game at 9.

Avoca, second seeded with a 15-1 mark, drew a first round bye and meets the Bennet-Douglas victor at 8:30 Feb. 22. The other semifinal battle comes off at 7 Feb. 22. The finals on Feb. 23 begin at 8. Bennet (11-5) was 3rd-seeded and Elmwood (10-5) 4th-seeded.

Wynn Returns Pact With His Signature

Chicago (AP) — Early Wynn 42, the patriarch of pitching in the major leagues, signed his 1962 contract with the Chicago White Sox Thursday hopeful he can hurl the 8 victories he needs to reach the coveted 300 mark.

Wynn's signing of his 5th White Sox contract, which will mark his 21st major league season, came after doctor's approval of his erstwhile ailing pitching right elbow.



HUSKER VETERANS SET FOR MEET

Two Nebraska veteran thinclads will be in action Saturday when Coach Frank Sevigne's squad plays host to Iowa State. Larry Reiners (left) set a Nebraska shot put record last weekend with a 53-2 toss. He is a graduate of McCook Junior College. Mike Fleming (right) will be making his 1st appearance for the Huskers since the 1957-'58 season. Fleming, who has been running for the Marines in the meantime, will be running in the distance events.

-RATED TEAMS FACE TOUGH FOES-

Northeast-Fremont Crucial Prep Test

By Conde Sargent
Prep Sports Writer

The fast-moving high school basketball scene will drop its biggest bombs this weekend.

Top games are pin-pointed in every portion of the state with the high-rated teams facing stern opposition.

Top-rated Fremont, with its second Big Ten East crown easily secured, steps out for its toughest non-conference showing of the season.

Coach Al Bahe's Tigers, who have rolled up 70 or more points in their last 3 outings, will get a good insight on how tough the path to their second straight crown in March will be.

Fremont, 11-1 for the year, is at Bellevue Friday night and then hosts Northeast Saturday night.

The game with Northeast is the biggest in the state. The Capital City Rockets also have a 6-game winning streak going and have an offense that has registered no less than 60 points in any of those victories.

Coach Ed Johnson's club is rated No. 3 in the state. Both teams lack nothing in speed.

Bellevue, which holds down the No. 6 spot, must tangle with Boys Town again Saturday night, this time at Boys Town.

Lincoln High, whose hopes of gaining a top 10 ranking dropped with a loss to Omaha North last week, has a big opportunity to regain prestige.

The Links' two-game slate calls for a trip to Hastings Friday and a home tilt with Creighton Prep Saturday. The Omahans must tangle with Omaha Central Friday, too.

The best match in Lincoln should be Pius X's visit to Southeast Friday night. The two clubs are mired in losing streaks.

Other Capital City action is Minden at University High and Beatrice at Northeast Friday, and University High at David City Saturday.

In the west, North Platte can sew up the Big Ten West title with a two-game sweep. The Platters host improving Kearney Friday and are at Alliance Saturday.

North Platte hasn't lost a loop game yet.

In the southwest, the top two Class B teams collide for a 3rd time. Leader Gothenburg hosts No. 2 Cozad. They have split two earlier games and probably will meet a 4th time in the district tourney.

The Sargent System carries a .746 percentage into the weekend. For the year, 150 winners have been predicted out of 201 games.

Top games this week, all Friday unless noted otherwise:

Northeast at Fremont (Sat.)—Mr. Big in prep ranks and Fremont has been Mr Big at home.

Pius X at Southeast—Someone will snap losing streak. It should be Southeast.

Lincoln High at Hastings—Things are getting easier for the Links, especially as short as they are and as tall as they are at Hastings.

Minden at University High This one will provide a comparison of eastern Class B strength v. the Southwest Conference. Uni High.

Cozad at Gothenburg—Look for Gothenburg to take victory and hold Class B leadership.

Omaha Westside at Omaha Benson—Bunnies of Benson should make hay.

Omaha Central at Creighton Prep—Best in Omaha. Stick with improving Prep.

Kearney at North Platte—First of two weekend victories for North Platte.

Other games with predicted winners appearing in dark print:

FRIDAY

Beatrice at Northeast, Central City at Albion, McCook at Alliance, Hooper at Ashland, Wahoo at Blair, Ord at Broken Bow.

SATURDAY

Creighton Prep at Lincoln High, University High at David City, North Platte at Alliance, Omaha Holy Name at Auburn, Blair at Omaha Bishop Ryan, Bellevue at Boys Town, Mitchell at Bridgeport, Grand Island at Columbus, McCook at Scottsbluff, Omaha South at Omaha Central, Omaha Westside at Omaha Tech.

Snell, Halberg Did It On Own

Auckland, New Zealand (AP) —Arthur Lydiard, coach of world record holders Murray Halberg and Peter Snell, said Thursday both runners made themselves what they are.

"I have put some tough tasks on other athletes," said Lydiard. "They did not make it. These boys did."

Halberg holds the world two and three miles records and Snell has bettered the mile, half-mile and 800 meters marks.

Wichita Cager Signs Yankee Baseball Pact

Wichita, Kan. (AP) — Lanny Van Eman, the University of Wichita's high-scoring basketball guard from McKeesport, Pa., has signed a baseball contract with the New York Yankees.

Van Eman completed his varsity eligibility at Wichita and won his bachelor of arts degree at mid-year.

Mets Sign 2 Pitchers

New York (AP) — Pitchers Howie Nunn and Bob Moorhead have signed their 1962 contracts, the New York Mets announced.

Wrestlers, Swimmers Grab City Spotlight

By MIKE COONEY
Star Sports Writer

The wrestlers and swimmers grab the spotlight from prep basketball teams in Capital City action this weekend.

The top event scheduled is the District wrestling tournament which opens this morning at 9:00 a.m. in the Public Schools Activities Building.

Wrestlers from 8 schools, including Lincoln High, Northeast, Southeast, and Pius X, will go to the mat to determine representatives to the state grappling meet.

Featured in the all-day show will be the expected heavyweight clash between Carol Stith of Southeast and Vern Goeglein of Northeast. The two hefties, ranked among the best in the state, drew in their only meeting this season.

The PSAB will be turned over to swimming Saturday as Southeast, Northeast, and Lincoln High compete for Capital City laurels. Southeast, with Dave Frank and Tom Nickerson leading the way, is an early favorite.

Basketball action will be hot and heavy. Top games are the Northeast-Fremont clash in Fremont Saturday night and the Minden-University High clash Friday in the Tutors' gym.

Pius X and Southeast square off in another round of their rivalry tonight while Lincoln High hosts Creighton Prep in an Intercity league tussle Saturday.

Northeast will warm up for the Fremont tussle by hosting Beatrice on the Rocket boards tonight.

O'DELL INKS

San Francisco (AP) — Left-handed pitcher Billy O'Dell, who during the winter asked more starting assignments or a trade to a different club, Thursday returned his signed 1962 contract to the San Francisco Giants.

PALMER LEADS FIELD

Shoots 64 For 1st Round Lead

. . . IN PHOENIX OPEN

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, picking up right where he left off winning at Palm Springs, Calif., last week, came within one stroke of the course record Thursday as he shot a 7-under-par 64 for the 1st round lead in the $35,000 Phoenix Golf Open.

Nearest to him, at 67, is Art Wall Jr.

Palmer duplicated his winning finish of the 1960 U.S. Open as he birdied 6 of the 1st 7 holes. He would have had 7 sub-par holes in a row, bettering his 5 straight in the final round at Palm Springs, by sinking a chip shot that missed by inches on No. 3.

Palmer finished early and relaxed as the field chased him futilely.

Jack Nicklaus, the chunky 1962 U.S. Amateur and Intercollegiate Champ just turned pro, started off shakily but settled down for a two-under 69. At that level, he was tied with 5 others.

Littler One-Under

U.S. Open Champion Gene Littler, top money winner so far this year, was in a group at one-under-par 70.

Gary Player, No. 1 money winner of 1961, skipped this tournament.

Palmer began his assault on the 6,765-yard Phoenix Country Club course by hitting the 528-yard 1st green in two. He barely missed his putt for an eagle and tapped it in for a 4.

He birdied the 147-yard par 3 2nd hole with a 10-foot putt, and settled for a par 4 on No. 3.

Pounding drives consistently around the 300-yard mark, Palmer chopped a stroke off par on each of the next 4 and added a couple of pars for a remarkable 6-under 30 on the front 9.

Final Birdie

After firing 7 more pars in a row, he got his final birdie with a 25-foot putt at the 17th. A missed 4-footer cost him a birdie on 18.

"I putted very well and played pretty good all around," Palmer said. But he added wishfully, "It really could have been a heck of a round if I'd made all the putts I should have."

Palmer felt his putting was helped because he played before others in the field had trampled the greens. He will not have this advantage tomorrow. He will be one of the late starters.

Wall hung up his 67 on 4 birdies and 14 pars. "I hit some wild shots," he admitted, "And got about all out of the round that was possible."

Leading scorers after the 1st round of the $35,000 Phoenix Open Golf tournament:

Arnold Palmer	30-34—64
Art Wall Jr.	35-32—67
Fred Hawkins	35-34—69
Don Massengale	33-36—69
Jack Nicklaus	36-33—69
Gardner Dickinson	34-35—69
Bruce Crampton	35-34—69
Bill Johnston	35-34—69
Gene Littler	35-35—70
Bill Collins	36-34—70
Frank Boynton	36-34—70
Bob Rosburg	35-35—70
Dave Hill	34-36—70
Bob McCalister	37-33—70
Don Fairfield	35-35—70
Charles Sifford	35-35—70

NU Retains Scarbrough On Payroll 'Til June 30

. . . ON TECHNICALITY

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

Due to a technicality, the University of Nebraska will retain the services of Don Scarbrough, former assistant football coach under Bill Jennings, until June 30, it was learned Thursday.

Comptroller Joseph Soshnik told The Star that the unusual situation developed because of a routine "salary notice" that is sent to all university employes at the beginning of each fiscal year.

"While the Regents appointment for football assistants was from Feb. 1 to Feb. 1, our office sent out salary notices stating the salary was to cover the fiscal year from July 1 to July 1," Sosknik said.

"It is Don Scarbrough's contention that this salary notice was a modification of his appointment, and we are in a position to agree that under his interpretation he has a claim."

Soshnik reported that none of the other Jennings' assistants, who were not rehired when Jennings' contract was not renewed by the university, have requested similar action.

Soshnik said that "presumably, Don has reported for work and will do the job assigned to him (by athletic director Tippy Dye) so that the university will receive his services for the money he will be paid between now and June 30."

The comptroller said that his office was taking action which would insure that no such situation can develop again in the future.

Dye said Thursday night that he told Scarbrough to report for work Friday morning.

"He will not be working with the football staff", Dye said, "he will be sort of a general handy man, perhaps working in the equipment room. I'm not sure about his actual duties right now, but we are interested in receiving adequate services for the salary we will be paying him.

The former Jennings aide's salary was $8,000.

PEARCE TALKS WITH GRIFFITH

Athens, Ga. (AP) — Georgia coach Johnny Griffith and LeRoy Pearce, a University of Nebraska assistant, had a get-acquainted meeting Thursday. Pearce is being considered for a vacancy on the Bull-dog coaching staff.

Griffith said that Pearce had been recommended to him as "an outstanding young football coach." Pearce also conferred with some members of the athletic board.

After the meetings, Pearce said he planned to return to Fayetteville, Ark., where his wife's parents live, to think over the Georgia situation.

Griffith said no formal offer has been made to Pearce, and that further discussions would be held by telephone next week.

If Pearce signs with Georgia, he will replace Bob Ford who resigned to become chief defensive coach at Kentucky.

C Of C Attempts To Mend Athletics Baseball Dispute

Kansas City (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce has interceded in an attempt to mend an open break between owner Charles O. Finley of the Kansas City Athletics and the Kansas City Star.

Strained relations reached a climax last September when the Star's Sports Editor Ernest Mehl, described the operation of the Athletics as bizarre and incongruous. He said an actual attempt at sabotage could have caused no more harm than Finley's handling of the club. The firing of General Manager Frank Lane and Field Manager Joe Gordon was a focal point of Mehl's criticism.

Finley replied with a "poison pen" award to Mehl and said the Star never bothered to get his side of a story before it was printed.

Today Mehl published a letter he had received from J. R. Dominick II of the Chamber of Commerce and his reply. Dominick said it is apparent "A trying season is ahead of us unless a mutual agreement is reached."

Mehl replied that he remained "Willing to participate in any meeting out of which might come a solution."

Finley told a newsman, "Any time I want to talk with someone regarding a problem, I am always man enough to contact the individual personally and would suggest that if Mr. Mehl wishes to talk with me he consider being man enough to call me personally instead of having a dozen go-betweens.

"All I can say is: Another Ernie Mehl story. No further comment."

Dominick wrote that the chamber's baseball committee was concerned for the future of Major League baseball here and asked Mehl for "Any suggestion that you might have as to how the dispute can be settled."

"We have tried repeatedly to bring yourself and Mr. Finley together to discuss this matter on a man-to-man basis without success," Dominick wrote. "We readily admit that you have always offered to sit down and discuss the matter with ourselves or with Mr. Finley."

Mehl published the letter and his reply without comment, saying they were self-explanatory.

Mehl wrote that the Star plans to cover the Athletics' spring training and season as it has in the past. He added in part:

"That Mr. Finley has established a policy that no information on the Athletics can be made available to the Star nor will either he or his general manager, Pat Friday, be available for comments, will not deter the Star in the slightest from furnishing all of the news on the players, the managers, coaches, as well as all newsworthy chatter which is a big part of the coverage of baseball."

Finley, a Chicago insurance man, made a speech at a civic club in which he praised his players and stressed the club's youth movement.

He referred to his difficulties with the Star this way:

"This club is the only one in the majors in a one-newspaper town. It makes it pretty rough when someone cuts your throat and you have no other newspaper to go to give your side of the story.

"You can't fight that newspaper! I've heard that expression so much it makes me sick. Any time I have to sell my soul for security, I'll get out of baseball."

Whether Dominick also had written Finley was not immediately clear. Dominick's secretary said she did not know where he could be reached for comment on the impasse.

Murdock Romps To 18th Straight Win

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

Elmwood — Unbeaten Murdock and once-beaten Avoca headed for a showdown in the Mustang Conference basketball tournament.

The Bulldogs, winner now of 18 straight, and the No. 2 Class D team in the state, ripped shorter Elmwood 69-42 in semifinals play.

Avoca, not quite as tall as Murdock, pulled away from Sprague-Martell in the last quarter, winning 63-46.

Murdock's big men, 6-2 Jim Panska and 6-4 John Roeber, had too much height and too many baskets for Elmwood. Panska swished 22 points and Roeber added 20.

Murdock led 32-18 at the half and turned to a fast breaking game to speed to a 56-30 3rd quarter advantage.

Outmanned By Murdock

Although outmanned by the tall Murdock lads, Elmwood gave it a professional performance at the free throw line, hitting 16 of 18 attempts.

Avoca needed an 11 of 14 field goal spree in the 3rd quarter to squelch Sprague-Martells' bid for an upset. Guards Roger Ehlers and Ronny Wohlers got all of those 3rd period fielders.

At the half it was 35-20 Avoca's favor, and they gradually pulled away.

Ehlers spread 22 points throughout the game to lead Avoca. Big Steve Carstens, at 6-6 the biggest player in the tourney, added 21 and set out the 3rd quarter with 3 personal fouls. Wohlner hit 16, all in the second half.

Avoca's only loss in 17 games was to Murdock in December. The two teams meet Friday at 8:30 p.m. for the championship. Sprague-Martell and Elmwood tangle in the consolation game at 6:15.

Girl's Volleyball

In girl's volleyball Avoca will play in the finals against Malcolm at 7:45 Friday. Avoca tipped Sprague-Martell 6-9 13-5, 15-0. Malcolm defeated Eagle-Alvo 9-7, 11-3. The losers meet at 5:45.

Murdock 15 17 24 13—69
Elmwood 10 8 12 12—42
Winner's high—Jim Panska, 22. Loser's high—Clayton Miller, 9.
Avoca 10 15 22 16—63
Sprague-Martell 8 12 16 10—46
Winner's high—Roger Ehlers, 22. Loser's high—Ron Egger, 15.

SAYERS LEADS OU THINCLADS

Omaha (AP)—Omaha University won the last two events to open its indoor track season successfully in a triangular with Doane and Hastings Thursday night.

The Indians had 50 points, Doane had 41 and Hastings had 38.

Leading Omaha was Roger Sayers, who won 3 events, including the 60-yard dash, next to last event. His other wins were in the 440 and the 60-yard low hurdles.

Omaha and Doane were tied at 40 points each until Sayers won the 60-yard dash.

KEARNEY GETS GRID FORFEIT

Kearney (AP) — Fort Hays State College has notified Kearney State College officials that the Kansas school is forfeiting a football game won from Kearney, 24-0, last fall.

Fort Hays said it found it had used an ineligible player. The man in question had played two games while attending another college but did not inform Fort Hays, the school said.

Time Has Run Out On Archie

New York (AP) —Time runs out on ancient Archie Moore today.

Unless the 45-year-old cladiator shows proof that he has signed for a title defense against either NBA champion Harold Johnson or Doug Jones, the New York State Athletic Commission is expected to chop off another piece of Moore's light heavyweight crown.

The commission said Thursday it is holding a meeting and has announced a press conference for noon (EST).

Last Friday Gen. Melvin Krulewitch, chairman of the Commission, gave old Archie just one more week to sign for fights with either Johnson or Jones, who had posted challenges and $2,500 forfeit checks with the commission.

Moore is recognized as king of the 175-pound class by New York, Massachusetts and Europe. The National Boxing Association (NBA), after repeated warnings to Moore to defend, finally took away recognition. It named Johnson, of Philadelphia, as its champion after he knocked out Jesse Bowdry at Miami Beach a year ago.

Jones, of New York, is the No. 2 contender. He is undefeated in his class and his only defeat was to Eddie Machen, the second-ranking heavyweight contender.

If New York dethrones Moore, Massachusetts and the British and European boxing bodies undoubtedly will follow. The British and Europeans generally don't waste time in booting out reluctant champions.

Archie's last defense was in New York last June 10 when he out-pointed crude Giulio Rinaldi of Italy.

If Moore is defrocked, the Commission probably will suggest a fight between Johnson and Jones for the title.

A week ago when informed of the Commission's warning, Moore said he was "grateful for the reprieve" and said he would come up with something within a week.

Moore also said then that he had signed Jan. 5 for a non-title bout with Argentine heavyweight Alejandro Lavorante at Los Angeles, March 30.

Scottsbluff JC Romps By 104-92

Scottsbluff (AP)—Ten players scored double figures Thursday night as Scottsbluff JC won a 104-92 basketball decision over Fairbury JC.

Scottsbluff had 6 players in double figures, Ron Vermillion leading with 20. Game honors went to Gary Sparks of Fairbury who had 28 points.

Scottsbluff led at the half 48-30 and spurted again after Fairbury got within 6 points midway in the 2nd half.

Creighton Visits ND; Eyes NIT

Omaha (UPI) — Pete McManamon and Larry Wagner were named Thursday to the starting lineup for Creighton's cage club in its game at Notre Dame Saturday.

McManamon, 6-3 junior forward, ousts veteran Chuck Officer and Wagner, fiery 5-9 guard, steps into the post vacated by Ed Hubbard, senior who tripped scholastically and washed out of second-semester play.

Wagner turned in fine performances against Iowa and Marquette with 18 and 20 points, respectively, in the two Bluejay victories.

They will team with sophomore whiz Paul Silas at center, forward Jim Bakos and guard Herb Millard in a stretch drive which coach Red McManus hopes will land the Bluejays a bid to the National Invitational Tournament.

71 Entries For Ak-Sar-Ben Race

Omaha — A total of 71 Nebraska-bred two-year-old thoroughbreds have been nominated for the two stakes in their division at Ak-Sar-Ben this summer, E. F. Pettis, chairman of the Ak-Sar-Ben race committee, announced.

The Lassie Stakes for two-year-old fillies attracted a record-breaking 40 entries, while 31 colts or geldings were nominated for the tenth running of the Futurity.

The all-time record of 88 nominations for a Nebraska-bred two-year-old stake at Ak-Sar-Ben was set in 1959. However, the original subscription fee then was $10, as compared to $30 presently.

The $6,000 added Lassie will be held on Tuesday, June 19, while the $7,500 added Futurity is scheduled for Tuesday, June 26.

Peace Sought In Long Battle

Chicago (AP)—A top-level conference seeking peace in the NCAA-AAU rift will be held Sunday and Monday and will be attended by 20 leaders in the realm of collegiate and AAU sportdom.

The two-day session, depicted by some as a "last chance" parley to bring peace in the bitter battle for amateur athletic power, was called by K. L. (Tug) Wilson, President of the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Wilson, in a terse release, listed the AAU and NCAA representatives expected to attend and suggested there would be no public announcement made on developments until Monday noon.

It was learned reliably both factions — eight AAU delegates, headed by President Louis J. Fisher of High Point, N.C., and 8 NCAA representatives, led by President Henry B. Hardt of Texas Christian — would hold pre-meeting caucuses to firm up their proposals.

Wilson's release simply named the 16 delegates from both groups.

The long-raging battle is centered on demands by the NCAA for greater control of amateur athletics, especially pertaining to international competition. To this end, the NCAA, at its January convention here, approved formation of national groups in basketball, track and gymnastics by coaches of those sports.

Wilson called the Sunday-Monday parley in belief a peaceful settlement can be made before the dispute possibly may reach the federal level.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said at Kansas City "It would be premature to comment prior to the meeting."

At High Point, N.C., AAU President Fisher spoke more freely.

"We're going into this meeting optimistic," said Fisher. "We are now prepared to offer the NCAA the right to select what we regard as substantial and equitable representation on each of our sports committees. (The AAU has 17 different sports groups).

Offers Readied

"We will offer the NCAA what it has insisted for months it wants to again work in harmony with the AAU."

Fisher said the AAU is considering a plan calling for separate "sub-groups" in each sport. In each, the NCAA will be offered posts.

Hardt said he believes the meeting will provide the framework for harmony, adding:

"There is no question about it — we must get together. It's a pretty serious scrap the way things stand now. I surely hope we can get this thing worked out and I believe there is a fair chance we will do so. However, nobody knows what course the meeting will take."

Hardt said if the talks settle nothing "We would be in terrible shape . . . I don't know what the solution would be in this case."

Whether the dove of peace will fly at the Chicago sessions is conjectural. but this is the first full blown meeting of the minds on the subject since the rift started last year.

"Improved performance... that's why more people are switching to new Frontier GS-1000 Energy Fuel"

Says Marion Archer, Omaha Frontier Products Dealer

"My regular customers have been using new GS-1000 Energy Fuel ever since Frontier first introduced it. They've watched their car performance carefully and they are really pleased. Their own driving tests have proved to them that GS-1000 does what Frontier claims it will do—gives better gasoline mileage, increases power, improves overall performance. These satisfied customers have told their friends and neighbors about GS-1000, and every day more and more people are switching to Frontier.

Try new Frontier GS-1000 Energy Fuel the next time you need to fill up. You get GS-1000 in both Frontier Regular and Premium grades of fine gasoline."

Meet Called To Clear Columbus Air Service Matters

State Aeronautics Director James Sandstedt has called a meeting at the Statehouse at 1:30 Friday afternoon to "clarify" matters concerning attempts to get air service for Columbus.

Cities interested or affected by the proposal have been invited to the meeting. The cities include Lincoln, Omaha, Columbus, Grand Island, Scottsbluff, Kearney, Hastings and Norfolk.

A Civil Aeronautics Board hearing on the Columbus proposal is scheduled in Washington Tuesday.

Sandstedt said so much confusion prevails upon the proposal for Frontier service to Columbus that the Friday meeting is being held to try to clear up the questions.

"It would be better if everybody goes to Washington with one common purpose," the aeronautics director said.

Plenty Controversy

Controversy continued between Columbus and Lincoln Thursday with the secretary of the Columbus Airport Authority charging Lincoln with being greedy in not wanting to give up one airline flight a day in favor of a stop at Columbus.

Lincoln answered that it would like for Columbus to have air service, but not at the expense of Lincoln.

Laird Loomis of the Columbus Airport Authority said, "It's incredible that Lincoln could be so selfish and greedy.

"Between United and Frontier Airlines, Lincoln must be served by 25 landings a day, yet Lincoln doesn't want Columbus to have any airline service.

"We are at a loss to understand this action by the Capital City. Perhaps Lincoln will trade us its share of the Interstate Highway that we are helping pay for in return for our proposed one airline stop," Loomis said.

'It's Too Bad'

"It's too bad that Lincoln and Scottsbluff could not feel a spirit of statewide cooperation. Both towns are playing right into Frontier's hands by getting into these scraps. The old adage of 'United we stand, divided we fall' is a good one to remember here.

"In the end it would save a lot of airline service for the State of Nebraska," Loomis concluded.

The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee issued a statement in which it said, "We would like very much for Columbus to have air service but not at Lincoln's expense.

"We are operating on the basis of facts. The Columbus case, as it now exists, is based on suppositions and assumptions.

"It is a supposition, not a fact, that the Frontier southern route will be dropped. It is a supposition, not a fact, that there would be shuttle service to North Platte if the southern route is dropped," the Lincoln chamber statement continued.

Meanwhile, State Railway Commission Chairman Joseph Brown indicated that no matter what action the CAB takes in the fight between Columbus and Lincoln, the final decision lies with the commission.

He reasserted the commission's view that it has final determination over all intrastate air travel in Nebraska.

According to Brown and Attorney General Clarence Meyer, a recent State Supreme Court decision that the commission does not have jurisdiction over the financial matters of United Airlines in Nebraska can in no way be used to take away the commission's authority as far as service in the state is concerned.

Meyer asserts the opinion refers to financial matters only, a field remote from the control of service.

STATE ASKING QUICK TRIAL FOR FRONTIER

A speedy trial date is being asked by the state in its case against Frontier Airlines for discontinuing service on its northern route without authorization.

This was revealed Thursday by Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer, who said that District Judge Albert Crites has been contacted by his office urging a trial date be set as soon as possible.

Crites has as yet not acted on the request.

The state's case against Frontier rests on the assumption that the airlines dropped service on the route in December without the proper authorization. The trial would seek a permanent injunction to force Frontier into serving the route.

Union College Unfolds Big $3 Million Plan

. . . EXPANSION BOOM RELATED

Lincoln's Union College will start a $3 million expansion program in 1963, David J. Bieber, president, said Thursday.

The building program projected for 10 years includes a library; science building addition, doubling the present size; student housing; extension of gymnasium and physical education facilities, including a swimming pool; two more units on the secondary teacher training facilities; and replacement of the Clock Tower building with probably two buildings for administrative offices and a student center.

A $450,000 secondary school which will be started in late summer or autumn is part of the building program.

A professional consultant will be hired to design a master plan for the campus, he said. Expansion will be confined to the existing acreage.

Bieber said $2 million will come from the Central, Northern and Southwest Union conferences of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church. The other $1 million will come from alumni, foundations and other donors.

The board of trustees authorized the college to seek accreditation with the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education.

According to Bieber, the college will meet the requirements by increasing the staff of the department of education, revamping the student teaching program at the secondary and elementary level, and adding to the facilities.

A world tour for about 30 students during the summer of 1963 also was authorized by the board. The tour will be sponsored by the English and history departments for academic credit.

LeRoy W. Wasemiller of Lincoln and H. W. Klaser of Richardson, Tex., were elected to the board of trustees. Theodore Carcich of Lincoln was reelected board chairman.

HAVELOCK MAIL FORCE SHIFTED TO UNI PLACE

Acting Postmaster O. D. Middleton said Thursday the carrier force at the Havelock Station has been transferred to the University Place Station.

The move makes no change in deliveries on the one rural and 7 city routes involved, but provides "better working quarters for the transferred carriers," he explained.

A new and larger University Place Station was recently built at 2427 No. 48th.

Box and window service at the Havelock Station, 4369 No. 61st, will continue.

New window hours at the main post office and stations will go into effect Monday.

Main office hours will be 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 8 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday for stamp, money order and parcel post windows, but box service and registry window will continue to open at 7:30 a.m.

Station hours will be 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday for all window service. The Statehouse station is closed Saturdays.

BRIDGE

By B. Jay Becker

QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	Pass	1♥
Pass	?

What would you now bid with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠83 ♥QJ52 ♦763 ♣AK94
2. ♠K93 ♥874 ♦KQ86 ♣A52
3. ♠AJ65 ♥7 ♦KQ7543 ♣J2
4. ♠J5 ♥K9632 ♦5 ♣AJ874

1. Three hearts. A player who passes originally is assumed to lack the values for an opening bid, and his partner who then opens the bidding should interpret any responses made by that player in that light.

For this reason some responses made by a passed player are not regarded as forcing, even though they would have been forcing if made by an unpassed hand. For example, in this case, the jump to three hearts does not obligate North to bid again, whereas he would have been forced to continue if South had not passed previously.

In line with this theory, the jump raise by the responder may be shaded by one or two points if he passed originally. This hand, which would not be quite good enough for a raise to three hearts if North had been the dealer, justifes the raise to three in view of the previous pass.

It should be noted also that a response of two clubs is not proper under the circumstances, since North is not required to treat the change of suit as forcing when it is made by a passed hand.

2. Two notrump. The same principle applies here. The two notrump response would normally be forcing to game, but can be passed in this sequence. The usual range for a two no-trump response is 13 to 15 points, but the same response, made by a passed player, shows only 11 to 13 points.

3. Two diamonds. While it is true that South has a borderline opening bid which he chose to pass, he should still not do more than respond two diamonds. Lacking a heart fit, there is nothing to get excited about. If North passes two diamonds, it is highly unlikely that a game can be made.

4. Four hearts. Considering its distributional features and excellent trump fit, this hand looks very promising for the game and it should be bid forthwith.

Tricks, not point count, are the determining factor in distributional hands. One good test in hands of this type is to say to yourself: "Suppose I bid three hearts and partner passes, do I still want to be in game?" If the answer is yes, as it should be in this case, then the proper response is four hearts, not three.

Creation Of Missouri Basin Power Pool Urged

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The general manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Assn. Thursday called for creation of "one common carrier power pool" in the Missouri River Basin.

"A million additional kilowatts of firm power would be available to all" if basin power capacity were integrated into a single transmission grid system, Clyde Ellis declared.

Such inter-connections would permit exchange of power to meet differing seasonal peaks and daily load requirements which would vary with the time element, he said.

Ellis attacked the controversial, new 14-agency power interchange proposal as "a monstrosity . . . an effort to cut REA's out and substitute power company monopoly" in the basin.

The plan—which drew fire Wednesday from the Midwest Electric Consumers Assn. — would block proposed construction of a 200,000-kilowatt steam generating plant in North Dakota.

Ellis

Ogier

Omaha Public Power District is among the 14 utilities offering the alternate interchange proposal.

Ellis voiced his comments in an interview with The Star prior to a luncheon address before the Nebraska Rural Electric Assn.

Ogier Re-elected

In its morning session, NREA re-elected Paul Ogier of Wallace as its president.

Other officers, all re-elected: John Meyer of Smithfield, vice president; Edward Hahn of Tecumseh, secretary, and Orville Choquette of Upland, treasurer.

Ellis said the U.S. is "perhaps a decade behind" Western Europe and Russia in power grid efficiency.

Western Europe had "a common market in power before anything else." Russia is now tying together 5 power transmission pools.

In the U.S., only the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Pacific Northwest boast power pools.

The Missouri Basin, Ellis said, is hampered by "an inefficient hodgepodge of disconnected power supply capacity." It has been the victim of the "no over-all planning," he declared.

"Things have to be done now," Ellis pointed out. "The problem is here now; the power shortage comes later."

New REA Image Needed

Meanwhile, the NRECA spokesman said there is a need for "a new image" of the Rural Electrification Administration.

REA is "serving more people, but fewer farm people" due to the transformation of rural America brought about by shifting population, Ellis noted.

As a result, "it is not now as easy for us to move this program forward in Congress as it has been in the past," he said.

The heaviest emphasis now rests on funds for generation facilities, rather than new distribution lines, he pointed out.

In Nebraska, for instance, power requirements double every 5 years, Ellis said.

REA must also face the duty of "exporting the REA idea to develop countries throughout the world," he declared, including operation through the Alliance for Progress.

President Kennedy's fiscal 1963 budget recommendation of $345 million for REA loan funds is "not anything like enough" to meet these new responsibilities, Ellis said.

Dr. Randall: Urges Study For Peace

Students have the opportunity to study for peace, and the U.S. needs study and preparation for adjusting the economy to a peace-time economy, Dr. Darrell Randall told a convocation of Nebraska Wesleyan University students Thursday.

In the last speech of his Religion-in-Life series entitled "Man's Faith and Factors for Survival," Dr. Randall urged students to study for peace.

"We will need a lot of study and preparation in the U.S. for adjusting our economy from the preparation for war to a peace-time economy. We also need to prepare ourselves for supporting international institutions for the settlement of disputes," Dr. Randall said.

"This is a time for Christians to take more interest and responsibility in studying and working out the program for making peace possible."

Attorney Hanley Will Not Seek Re-Election

Omaha (AP) — Douglas County Attorney John J. Hanley said he will not run for re-election.

A courthouse official said Chief Deputy Donald Knowles as "definitely interested" in the job.

Court Backed In Rhodes Case

Attorneys for defendants told the State Supreme Court Thursday that the Morrill County District Court acted correctly in dismissing libel and false imprisonment suits brought by attorney Paul Rhodes, formerly of Bridgeport.

Rhodes did not appear and was not represented at the oral arguments on two Rhodes appeals currently pending in the high court.

The court took the cases under advisement and will deliver its opinions later.

One appeal involves a libel action against the Star-Herald Printing Co., the Scottsbluff Star-Herald. Len Propp and Floyd Wisner of Scottsbluff; Morrill County Sheriff Norval Houston and the Maryland Casualty Co., involving a newspaper article.

Attorney A. H. Atkins of Scottsbluff, representing the newspaper, termed it a "shotgun petition" and contended that the published article falls within the privilege granted the press and does not constitute libel.

Macken Speaks

James L. Macken of Bridgeport, representing Houston and the casualty company, maintained that immunity given judges for their official acts also extends to peace officers, and that information attributed to Houston in the newspaper article is not actionable.

Rhodes appealed the case after Morrill County District Judge Edmund Nuss dismissed it.

The 2nd Rhodes appeal argued Thursday was a false imprisonment action brought against Judge Albert W. Crites, Houston, Maryland Casualty Co., Rush Clarke and former Atty. Gen. Clarence S. Beck.

Judge Nuss dismissed this suit after Rhodes had failed to file an amended petition as required by the court.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Gerald Vitamvas, making the only appearance in this case, contended that the court acted properly in requiring Rhodes to make his petition more definite and certain, and noted that Rhodes was given two opportunities to do so.

548 City Trees Given Haircut

City park crews trimmed 548 street trees and topped or removed 68 during January.

Man-hours totaled 2,951 or an average labor cost per tree of $8.90.

Forty loads of chips and 120 of brush were removed. Budget balance for 1961-62 tree trimming stands at $21,715.36.

West O Annex Hearing Reset

The City Council's public hearing on the proposed annexation of the West O area has been postponed to Feb. 19, Mayor Pat Boyles announced Thursday.

"Proponents and opponents to the annexation ordinance, which is pending final reading, are entitled to be heard by the full council," he said.

The West O area, proposed for annexation, covers approximately 4 square miles, extending north to the West Lincoln limits, west to the Interstate Highway and South to approximately West D extended.

Immigration Down

Ottawa (AP) — Immigration to Canada last year totaled 71,689, a 14-year low. Italians made up the largest single group of newcomers — 14,630 — for the fourth straight year.

Big Push Is On To Reinforce Christianity In Latin America

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

The big push of the century is on today to reinforce Christianity in Latin America.

Much bracing up needs to be done there, authorities agree, and the job is under way.

Roman Catholicism, its traditional strength in the area admittedly strained, is mounting an effort to unprecedented scope to revitalize church life there.

The task demands "a decisive program on the part of everyone," says Pope John XXIII. "Tomorrow it could be too late."

Increasing

At the same time, Protestantism, now indigenously at home on Latin soil, is increasing its work to expand a field that already is its fastest growing in the world.

It "offers the greatest challenge of our day to the missionary enterprise," says a report in the denominational journal, Presbyterian Survey.

Contrary to implications, the general emphasis is not on competition between the two branches of Christianity.

Good Will

The twin thursts come, remarkably, in a time of heightened good will, fuller religious tolerance and more tranquil relations between the two groups.

There has been "a change of climate" says the Rev. Dr. Stewart W. Herman, director of the Latin America Committee of the Lutheran World Federation. He said indications were that relations will continue to improve.

Sporadically, friction still erupts.

But overall, both Catholics and Protestants cite a developing cooperative spirit, in the face of mutual foes. They see their problems not so much in each other as in religious ignorance, secularism, communism, social abuses and paganism.

"The great body of people of Latin America live outside the church . . ." says a Maryknoll missioner, Rev. Albert J. Nevins. Says Protestant Episcopal Bishop John B. Bentley, director of his church's overseas department:

"There is ample room for us all."

South America, implanted with Catholicism by the 16th century Spanish and Portuguese conquistadores, has a swift-spiraling population of nearly 200 million. About 90% —180 million — are baptized Catholics.

This is more than a third of the church's world membership. Yet Catholic authorities estimate only about 15% are actively linked with the church, and the majority have little knowledge of Christianity. .

Key Problem

The shortage of priests is a key problem — one to every 4,500 Catholics, compared to a ratio of one to every 850 Catholics in the United States.

"Because there are so few priests, religious ignorance prevails," said Rev. Ronan Hoffman, missions professor at Catholic University, after a trip there. "Protestants have more students studying for the ministry in Latin America than the Catholic church has for the diocesan priesthood."

Less Than 5%

Yet Protestants make up less than 5% of the population, with about 5½ million church members, and a total community of about 9 million, counting families. The number, however, has doubled in the past 10 years.

Protestantism, although arriving on the scene only late in the last century, is now firmly rooted, and no longer regarded a foreign import. It has about 20,000 clergymen, mostely natives, compared to the 40,000 Catholic priests.

Both sectors, however, recognizing that most South Americans live amid widespread illiteracy and social ills beyond church influence, are striving to reform and strengthen their operations.

House Group Acts To Bar Acarine Mite

(Editor's Note: A House agriculture subcommittee acted Thursday to keep away from American shores—and American honeybees—a British insect parasite known as the Acarine Mite.

(To that end, the Congressmen voted to forbid the transportation of adult honeybees except under strict supervision. A reporter at the scene found both rhyme and reason for the action.)

By GEOFFREY GOULD

Washington (AP) —. . .

From the Isle of Wight the Acarine Mite
Has spread across 23 lands;
Wherever it's found, it strikes bees down,
on that agree all hands.
The Acarine Mite from the Isle of Wight
Is a microscopic beast;
It's hard to keep out but there is no doubt
On what it loves to feast.
The Acarine Mite from the Isle of Wight
Is the scourge of the honeybee;
So it makes good sense, in dollars and cents, to keep it across the sea.
To do just that, some Congressmen sat
And considered a law today;
They figured a freeze on overseas bees
Would keep the mite away.
No bees, no honey, just think of the money,
And that's not the worst of the story;
For bees pollinate and pay their freight
Keeping orchards in all their glory.
So 3 Congressmen and a lady friend,
Representative Catherine May,
Approved the bill with a royal will
To keep the mite at bay.
Eventually, the House will see
The bill they've sweated over;
There's not much doubt the House will shout,
"Sure, keep the bees in clover."
For the Acarine Mite from the Isle of Wright
Just has no friends of note;
It can't talk back and another lack
Is that it cannot vote.

How Much Juvenile Crime? New Committee To Find Out

The steering committee on juvenile delinquency and youth crime tackled the questions of how to determine the extent of juvenile crime in the state and to pinpoint successful programs combatting juvenile delinquency at their organizational meeting Thursday.

The group, headed by Dr. Garnet Larson of the University of Nebraska school of social work, was formed to prepare a report for a state representative to present at the national Governor's Conference on Juvenile Delinquency slated for June in Hershey, Pa.

Committee member Edna Zamzow of the Lincoln Public Schools was authorized to prepare a report on the Lincoln schools' program of special employment allowing teenagers to attend school on a half-time basis while holding part-time jobs.

Other Projects

Other projects the committee considered for possible incorporation in the report included the state youth conference aimed at keeping youth in Nebraska, the teenage safe driver program, programs for the teenage retarded youth, volunteer teenage centers, Big Brother programs, volunteer probation programs and other community or area projects aimed at curbing juvenile delinquency and crime.

Dr. Knute Broady, committee consultant, stressed the importance of including youth programs and projects geared to the smaller community and rural areas of the state.

Boys Training School Superintendent William Ettinger pointed out that juvenile delinquency was increasing at a more rapid rate among rural youth and the "white collar" sector of society than for youth as a whole, emphasizing the importance of programs of prevention in these fields.

Lt. Gail Cade, Lincoln Police Dept. juvenile officer, drew attention to the lack of preventative work among law enforcement groups in relationship to juvenile criminals, and noted that over 50% of the 600 or more arrests in Lincoln last year were youths of 18 or under.

The group also discussed the need, and possible ways to obtain, statewide statistics on the rate and types of juvenile offenses committed.

The many sides of love as seen by F. Scott Fitzgerald.
The love of Nicole... who gave a man everything but took his self-respect.
Of Dick...who destroyed a piece of himself each time he gave love.
Of "Baby"...who tried to buy the "dolce vita" but paid for it body and soul.
Of Abe...who drowned his love affairs in a martini.
Of Rosemary...who discovered the way to resist temptation was to yield to it.
F. SCOTT FITZGERALD'S celebrated love-story

Stocks Continue To Gain Steadily

New York (AP) — The stock market ground out its 8th daily advance Thursday as it continued to overcome resistance in the form of profit taking. Trading was fairly active.

Steels, coming to the fore late in the day, mounted a string of advances. Shares of this industry took a new lease on life in view of the scheduled start of steel labor negotiations next week, much earlier than usual, and hopes that both sides will reach agreement as recommended by the White House, thus avoiding the disruption of a strike.

The advance, once again, was irregular. Nevertheless, enough of the blue chips advanced to reflect steady buying by institutional investors who were too timid to come into the market when prices were much lower in January.

The Dow-Jones industrial average rose 1.09 to 716.82.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks bucked ahead .60 to 261.90 with industrials up .70, rails up .30 and utilities up .40. The AP average had regained all the ground lost since Jan. 3.

Volume fell off to 3.81 million shares from 4.14 million Wednesday.

Of 1,284 issues traded, 587 advanced and 446 declined. New highs for 1961-62 totaled 34 and new lows 4.

Ten of the 15 most active stocks advanced, 3 declined and two were unchanged.

Prices also moved generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.46 million shares compared with 1.68 million Wednesday.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds advanced. Corporate volume on the New York Stock Exchange dropped to $5.6 million par value from Wednesday's $5.81 million.

3rd Straight Drop Taken By Grains

Chicago (AP) — In its third successive setback, the grain futures market lost major fractions Thursday and dropped some contracts of corn, oats and soybeans to within a cent or so of their season lows.

The pressure was described as moderate but commercial demand was thin and speculative support was virtually absent from the mostly dull trade.

Liquidation was apparent all around. Dealers said it reflected a general disappointment among speculators that prices had shown no sign of mustering a rally. Recovery moves have been few and rather limited recently. The usually small bulges often meet resistance from longs who have been awaiting opportunities to sell out at any break-even price or better.

Thus, the so-called bull traders lost rank and force as the market absorbs almost daily liquidation and hedge selling.

Wheat closed ⅛-⅜ cent a bushel lower, March $2.02¾-⅝; corn ½-¾ lower, March $1.06¾-⅝; oats ⅛-¼ lower, March 67⅛-67; rye ⅛-⅞ lower, March $1.34⅞; soybeans ¼ lower to ¼ higher, March $2.44⅜-½.

More Classrooms For St. John's; Work Forthcoming

St. John's Catholic School, 7601 Vine, will begin construction of 4 additional classrooms expected to be needed for the fall term.

St. John's is just 3 years old and its elementary and junior high school is in its second year of operation with an enrollment of 263.

Seventy-five parish children are now attending public school kindergarten and will be eligible next fall for the parish school's first grade.

Concern by public school officials over providing adequate education facilities in rapidly growing areas were echoed by Catholic school officials in announcing the addition.

Without any anticipated influx of new families in the St. John's area, there are now 477 pre-school age children in the parish. In addition, more than 200 homes will be built in 1962 in the developments adjacent to the parish school.

Architects for the new addition are Boyer, Biskup and Widstrom of Omaha.

Motor Carriers Fees Deadline Is March 1

The State Railway Commission reminded motor transportation carriers in Nebraska Thursday that annual fees for 1962 become delinquent on March 1 and that non-compliance may subject their certificates of public convenience and necessity to revocation.

Such revocation proceedings will be inaugurated after March 1.

The commission also noted that proper filings of insurance are necessary before identification plates can be issued. Straight trucks require one plate, tractors require two planes. Each plate is $15.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Increased Taxes Will Burden Little Fellow

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

Rukeyser

With the federal debt at an unprecedented peak and the tax demands at the highest level in peace time history, the Congress is on the verge of another change which will lay a heavy burden on the little fellow.

The House Ways and Means Committee has tentatively approved a formula that would eventually levy an additional tax of $550,000,000 on "poor men's" thrift organizations, the mutual savings banks and the savings and loan associations.

In the hunger for revenues, the change is defended on the ground that it would bring these instruments for popular thrift more in line with the tax burden levied on commerical banks. However, commercial banks are corporate institutions operated for profit, with ownership shares represented by stock.

On the other hand, the mutual savings banks are voluntary non-profit making institutions which are clearing houses for thrift on the part of tens of millions of little fellows. The proposed new tax action follows similar burdens imposed several years ago on another instrumentality of voluntary thrift, namely the life insurance companies, including the mutual enterprises which are owned by the policy holders.

The argument for higher taxes rests on the assumption that these institutions have been treated far more generously than regular corporations. But the mutual institutions are non-profit seeking organizations that are clearing houses for ordinary thrifty individuals.

The higher tax burdens will create a move in the direction of the same evil of double taxation as now applies to ordinary corporations. The regular industrial, public utility or railroad corporation is subject to a corporate income tax of 52%, and then out of earnings distributed to owners as dividends there is a second tax, a personal income tax on such distributed earnings.

Thus, while advocates of "bread and circuses" in the form of illusory free gifts and benefits from Mama Government preempt for themselves the popular role of being generous, they are at the same time putting roadblocks in the way of little savers who are trying to provide a nest egg for themselves and their dependents.

Early in our history, Chief Justice Marshall observed that "the power to tax is the power to destroy," and through insidious taxation big government is discouraging the American tradition of self help. The trend is in the direction of what Sir William Beveridge described as "cradle to the grave security", dispensed as largess by big government.

Unfortunately the demagogues, who envisioned their program as a means of building up little people, have lost their roadmap in the field of taxation.

Thus, thrifty savings institutions, under the new proposal, will be treated less favorably taxwise than the mutual fund Likewise, the savings banks, which the investment trusts specializing in fixed dollar "conservative" bonds and mortgages, will be denied the freedom from taxation which rich men can procure through setting up trusts in fiduciary institutions — banks and trust companies. If the trust accumulates income and pays an income tax, there is not a concurrent and simultaneous double tax on the beneficiary. Of course, some fiduciary institutions make this trust service available to little fellows through pooling their investment funds in so-called Common Trust Funds, but the regulatory authorities — the Federal Reserve officials — have placed taboos which discourage dramatic merchandising of such services.

However much the big government spenders profess to love the little fellows, they forget their partiality in tax matters.

At present, the federal statutes, despite professions of humanity, treat inanimate property taxwise more favorably than human beings. In the Nineteen Twenties, the human worker received the equivalent of tax allowances for depreciation, obsolescence and depletion in the form of an across-the-board deduction of 25% of earned income, that is, income earned through personal services and reflected in salary and wages. During the deficit financing of the New Deal, this allowance was successively whittled down, and during the pressures of World War II the earned income allowance disappeared — and has not since been restored.

Likewise, earned income gets less favorable consideration than so-called property income, that is income from dividends, interest, rents and royalties, in the Social Security Act. Thus, at 65—and in some cases at 62—senior citizens can collect their old age and survivorship annuity benefits no matter how large their income from property may be. But, if the older person earns more than about $1,500 a year from the sweat of his brow, he is penalized as to eligibility to receive the social security benefits for which he and his employer paid payroll taxes through the year. The idle millionaire, however, is in a position to get the full annuity for which the self supporting senior citizen, with more than pittance earnings, must wait until he reaches the age of 72.

Similarly, although self styled tax "liberals" insist on sharing the wealth through steeply graduated income tax rates, they are inconsistently violating this principle in the expanding Social Security payroll tax, which is a level rate gross income tax eventually destined to grow to ten per cent or more a year.

If the masses sensed the real meaning of these inconsistencies, they would be up in arms. But the issue is hidden behind technicalities, and there is lack of popular understanding of the trend. The confusion is heightened by the tendency to credit to fiscal and monetary errors such improvement as has occurred in the past thirty years in living standards, but the gains are ascribable to improved machinery, better power technology, and increased productive efficiency.

Airplane Takes Its Place In Modern Crop Growing

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

The aerial application business is no "fly-by-night" operation — it's on solid footing with Nebraska farmers using the airplane more and more.

Nebraska aerial applicators at their 11th annual short course at the University of Nebraska were filled in on new farm uses of the plane by Rodney W. Bovey of the agronomy department at NU.

Planes were first used mainly for dusting and spraying, but many year-round uses have been added to the list of "farm operations."

Bovey listed these:

—aerial application of nitrogen to flowering wheat to increase protein content.

—application of trace elements to boost yields.

—spraying sorghum with a chemical drying agent to speed harvest.

NU is studying aerial application of pre-emergence herbicides, weed and insect control in pastures, and fertilizers.

Extension agronomist John D. Furrer said the College of Agriculture fields many inquiries about control measures for pennycress and mustards in winter wheat.

Furrer said these weeds can be controlled by chemicals if they are applied prior to or at the time of the first wheat flowering, not after weeds start to form.

He predicted an increase in winter wheat spraying this year.

Dean Osher of Hebron was elected president of the Nebraska Agricultural Aviation Assn. Other officers are Don Beckenhower of Fairfield, vice president, and Don Bair of York, secretary-treasurer.

Irish Bartender, Judge, Bar Owner Weave Tale

Riverhead, N.Y. (AP) — This is the tale of 3 Irishmen. One owned a tavern. Another tended the bar in the tavern. And the 3rd is a Suffolk County Judge.

Timothy Long came into his tavern in the wee hours of the morning two years ago and ordered a drink for himself and two companions.

Christopher J. Mulcahy, who was dutifully tending bar at the time, decided his boss had already drunk too much so he refused to serve him.

Disturbed

Long became disturbed. One thing led to another.

Thursday the two men stood before Judge John P. Cohalan to hear the verdict in a $6,000 law suit Mulcahy had brought against his former employer.

With ample sprinklings of Irish wit, Judge Cohalan recounted in a written ruling the events of that night two years ago.

He wrote:

"Mulcahy, a burly broth of a boy had refused a demand by Long, 58, slender and wiry, who checks in as a middleweight.

"The bartender refused to serve the drinks because he thought his employer was already well under the weather from too liberal potations imbibed at some place other than his own bar.

"Long advanced toward the bar to play the part of Ganymede (a figure in Greek mythology carried up to Olympus by the eagle of Zeus to be the cup-bearer of the god).

"The bar stool, if wielded or thrown, was the equalizer. However it may have come about, the two knights of the barroom lost their footing and ended up in a wrestling match on the floor.

Less Turbulent

"The struggle subsided, to be renewed in the less turbulent milieu of the courtroom."

Cohalan awarded Mulcahy $200 for injuries suffered when he was rapped on the head with a bar stool by Long.

Both read and re-read the decision.

Commented Long: "Ridiculous. A typical Republican decision. The judge is way off." The judge is a Republican.

Said Mulcahy: "The $200 won't even pay my medical expenses or my lawyer."

Long retired from the tavern business almost two years ago. Mulcahy has given up bartending.

MAN FINDS FRIENDSHIP COMES HIGH

Richmond, Va. (AP)—A Richmond man found Thursday that the price of friendship comes high, especially if it involves man's best friend.

The man, who wishes to remain anonymous, had been feeding an abandoned dog in his neighborhood. Last week the dog was picked up and taken to the dog pound because it lacked a collar.

The dog's best friend learned that to get the dog out of the pound he would have to pay $2.50 and sign as owner.

No sooner had he paid and signed than he was given two summonses, one because his newly-acquired dog lacked an inoculation tag and another because it lacked a registration tag.

The dog was registered for $1, and then inoculated for $3. Thursday the man went to court and was fined $7.70 on the two charges.

Total cost of friendship: $14.20.

Assaulted Teenager Needed 20 Stitches

Twenty stitches were needed at St. Elizabeth Hospital early Thursday to sew up a cut James E. Erwin of 2008 R got under his left eye.

Police said the 18-year-old Erwin suffered the cut when he was assaulted by an unknown man.

A hospital spokesman said Erwin also had a broken jaw and a possible concussion.

Toe Talent Lost; Damages Sought

Danville, Va. (AP) — The plaintiff asked $250,000 damages because, he said, he no longer could play the piano with his toes.

Injuries received in an automobile collision now prevent his piano specialty, said R. Daymon Williams in a damage suit in U.S. District Court. He seeks damages from John Pride Hunt IV, 17, of Chatham.

Williams, 42, told the jury the accident cost him one of the most unusual musical acts in the country — playing the piano with his toes and plunking a guitar by the same means.

"Many a time," he testified, "I would attend coon hunters' banquets in West Virginia, take off my shoes and play the piano with my feet — and also the mandolin."

300 Dead In German Explosion

Saarbruecken, Germany (UPI) — Saarland officials set the death toll Thursday at about 300 in the gas explosion which ripped through the Luisenthal coal mine with a blinding flash of flame and a shock wave that killed like a sledgehammer.

Cart Hugo, director of the Saarland Mines Commission, announced 283 bodies had been recovered. He said approximately 10 or 15 men were missing and that "there are no longer any prospects that they can be rescued." Of the 100 miners who escaped, 81 are on the critical list, he said.

Hugo's announcement brought an end to the mass vigil kept by crowds of tearful women and children outside the mine. One woman, mother of 3 sons lost on the same shift, trudged home after 24 hours at the mine. A few stayed on though hope was gone.

Officials said they were convinced an explosion of methane gas caused the disaster and despite the safety precautions which have won the mine many safety awards the miners apparently opened up a gas pocket which was set off by an electric spark.

Hugo disclosed that officials first considered sealing off 3 side tunnels, entombing the men where they had fallen, but that later inspection showed the tunnels were safe. The mine itself was closed while officials and weary rescue workers checked through the rubble.

Otto Pays Filing Fee For Morrison

Gov. Frank Morrison's administrative assistant, Norman Otto, paid the governor's filing fee in Lancaster County Thursday as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in the May 15 primary.

Mrs. Ralph G. Brooks of McCook, widow of the late governor, and Tony Mangiamelli of Omaha have also filed for the Democratic nomination.

Morrison To Drake

Governor Morrison flew to Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa, to speak at a meeting of a young Democrat group there Thusday night.

Poet Frost Said Okay In Miami

Miami (UPI) — Poet Robert Frost was reported "quite satisfactory" Thursday in a Miami hospital where he is being treated for lung congestion.

"He had a good night and slept well. His temperature is normal at the moment. His condition is quite satisfactory," a bulletin on the noted New England poet reported at mid-day.

"His response to the use of penicillin so far has been quite satisfactory," the hospital said.

The bulletin added that the germ causing the poet's condition had been identified as "pneumococcus."

ORDINANCE NO. 7653

AN ORDINANCE to create an Urban Renewal Authority in and for the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, and providing for submission of this ordinance to the electors of the City of Lincoln for their approval.

WHEREAS, there exists in the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, areas which have deteriorated and become substandard and blighted because of any one or more of the following reasons:

That the dwellings within such areas are unsafe, unsanitary, inadequate or overcrowded;

That there has been inadequate planning of the uses to be made of the properties situated within such areas;

That there is excessive land coverage by the buildings located in and situated within such areas;

That there is a lack of proper light and air and open space within such areas;

That the design and arrangement of the buildings situated on the lands within such areas are defective;

That the existing streets and the layout of the lots situated within such areas are faulty;

That the traffic conditions within such areas are congested;

That the economic and social uses made of the lands within such areas are undesirable; and

WHEREAS the above enumerated conditions or a combination of some or all of such conditions have and will continue to result in making such areas within the City of Lincoln economic or social liabilities of said City harmful to the social and economic well-being of the entire communities in which such areas exist, thereby needlessly increasing public expenditures, imposing onerous municipal burdens, decreasing the tax base, reducing tax revenues and substantially impairing or arresting the sound growth of the City of Lincoln, aggravating traffic problems, substantially impairing or arresting the elimination of traffic hazards and the improvement of traffic facilities and depreciating general community-wide values; and

WHEREAS the existence within the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, of the deteriorated, substandard and blighted areas above referred to contributes substantially and increasingly to the spread of disease and crime, necessitating excessive and disproportionate expenditures of public funds for the preservation of the public health and safety, for crime prevention, the correction, prosecution, punishment and the treatment of juvenile delinquency and for the maintenance of adequate police, fire and accident protection and other public services and facilities; and

WHEREAS, the combination of causes which contribute to the making of areas within the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, deteriorated, substandard and blighted, as above referred to, are beyond remedy and control solely by regulatory process in the exercise of the police power of the City of Lincoln and such conditions cannot be dealt with effectively by the ordinary operations of private enterprise without the aids provided for and authorized by the Act of the Legislature of the State of Nebraska, known and cited as the Urban Renewal and Redevelopment Law and contained in Sections 19-2601 to 19-2643, inclusive of the Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943 and as amended by Legislative Bill 433, enacted by the Seventy-second Session of the Nebraska State Legislature, approved July 3, 1961; and

WHEREAS, the elimination of such deteriorated, substandard and blighted areas within the City of Lincoln and the acquisition and preparation of land in or necessary to the renewal of substandard or blighted areas and its sale or lease for development or redevelopment in accordance with general plans and redevelopment plans heretofore or hereafter to be enacted by the City of Lincoln is desirable, necessary and for the best interests of the City of Lincoln and for such purpose it is necessary that an Urban Renewal Authority be created in and for said City;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska:

Section 1. That it is hereby found and determined that there exists within the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, areas which have deteriorated and are substandard and blighted and that it is necessary and for the best interests of the City that such areas be eliminated, all as hereinabove referred to and described in the preamble hereof.

Section 2. That pursuit to and in accordance with the provisions of the Act of the Legislature of the State of Nebraska, known and cited as the Urban Renewal and Development Law and contained in Sections 19-2601 to 19-2643, inclusive, of the Revised Statues of Nebraska, 1943, and as amended by Legislative Bill 433, enacted at the Seventy-second Session of the Nebraska State Legislature, approved July 3, 1961, there be and there is hereby created in and for the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, an Urban Renewal Authority to be known as "Urban Renewal Authority of the City of Lincoln", such Authority to carry out and exercise all the grants of power, authority, rights or discretion bestowed upon said Authority by and pursuant to the provisions of said Urban Renewal and Redevelopment Law of the State of Nebraska, above referred to.

Section 3. That within ninety days (90) of the effective date of this ordinance, the Mayor of the City of Lincoln, with the approval of the City Council, shall appoint five qualified persons to constitute the Urban Renewal Authority of the City of Lincoln, one such person to be appointed to serve for one year, one to be appointed to serve for two years, one to be appointed to serve for three years, one to be appointed to serve for four years and one to be appointed to serve for five years and such members shall hold office until their successors have been duly apointed and qualified and following such appointment the Authority shall exercise and carry out all those grants of power and duties given to such Authority pursuant to and in accordance with the provisions of said Urban Renewal and Redevelopment Law above referred to.

Section 4. That this ordinance shall be submitted to the electors of the City of Lincoln for their approval and shall be in full force and effect after it has been approved by a majority vote of the electors of said City and the returns of such election have been determined and declared in the manner and time as provided by law.

That the grades of certain streets in Herbert Brother's Second Addition to Skyline Terrace, an addition in the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, be and they are hereby established with reference to a datum plane, which is located as follows: Bench mark cut in water table at the northeast corner of the City Hall Building is 79.74 feet above said datum plane, said datum plane being coincident with the datum plane of what is known as the Harvey Grade.

The grades hereby established shall be uniform straight lines between adjacent points hereinafter specified in said streeets and between the grade points heretofore established by ordinance in adjacent streets.

Section 3. Grade at the intersection of Mesa Road and Indian Road: Northeast corner 155.50; Northwest corner 155.00; Southeast corner 155.00; Southwest corner 154.50.

Section 4. Grade at a point in Indian Road 112 feet south of the south line of Mesa Road: East side 151.00; West side 150.50; provided, however, that the grades to be established in this section shall be considered as the points of intersection of tangents to vertical curves 200 feet long.

Section 5. Grade at a point in Indian Road 170 feet north of the north line of Steinway Road: East side 136.00; West side 135.50; provided, however, that the grades to be established in this section shall be considered as the points of intersection of tangents to vertical curves 200 feet long.

Section 6. Grade at the intersection of Terrace Road and Vegas Road: Northeast corner 150.00; Southeast corner 149.60.

Section 7. Grade at a point in Terrace Road 133 feet north of the north line of Steinway Road; East side 148.00; West side 148.00; provided, however, that the grades to be established in this section shall be considered as the points of intersection of tangents to vertical curves 200 feet long.

Section 8. Grade at the intersection of Indian Road and Steinway Road: Northeast corner 132.00; Northwest corner 131.25.

Section 9. Grade at a point in Steinway Road at the centerline of Indian Road: South side 131.00; provided, however, that the grades to be established in this section shall be considered as the points of intersection of tangents to vertical curves 100 feet long.

Section 10. Grade at a point in Steinway Road at the centerline of Terrace Road: North side 145.00; South side 144.50; provided, however, that the grades to be established in this section shall be considered as the points of intersection of tangents to vertical curves 400 feet long.

Section 11. Grade at the intersection of Steinway Road and Terrace Road: Northeast corner 140.93; Northwest corner 140.91.

Section 12. That the plat of Herbert Brother's Second Addition to Skyline Terrace, filed in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, by Herbert Brothers, a partnership, as owner, on January 26, 1962, be and it hereby is approved and accepted and said owner be and it is hereby given the right to plat said Herbert Brother's Second Addition to Skyline Terrace as an addition in the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, in accordance therewith. Such acceptance and approval is conditioned upon the following conditions:

First: That the owner above set forth shall, at its own cost and expense, construct sidewalks in the sidewalk space on both sides of Steinway Road, both sides of Indian Road, both sides of Terrace Road, both sides of Vegas Road, both sides of Mesa Road, and on the east side of Skyway Road within the limits of the above-named streets as the same exist in the proposed plat, in accordance with the ordinances of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, relating to sidewalks. The construction of said sidewalks shall be completed not later than February 15, 1964.

Second: That the owner above set forth shall, at its own cost and expense, pay for all labor, material, engineering and inspection in connection with the construction of the necessary storm sewers as designated in the preliminary plat for the whole of Skyline Terrace on file in the office of the City Engineer of the City, all in conformance with the alignment, grade and cross section as determined by the City, together with all other expense in connection therewith. Said storm sewers shall be constructed under the supervision of the City of Lincoln and title thereto shall be vested in the City of Lincoln. The construction of said storm sewers shall be completed not later than March 1, 1963.

Third: That the owner above set forth shall, prior to the passage of this ordinance, enter into a written agreement with the City of Lincoln, agreeing that the City of Lincoln will bring the streets to the official established grades as hereinabove set forth, and construct the necessary sanitary sewers and water mains to serve the real estate in said addition, and assess the cost thereof against the real estate in said addition in accordance with benefits accruing thereto.

Section 13. That the owners above set forth shall, prior to the passage of this ordinance, execute and deliver to the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, a bond in the sum of $7,000.00, which bond shall be approved by the City Council ofthe City of Lincoln, Nebraska, and shall be conditioned upon the strict compliance by the owner above named with the conditions contained in paragraph "First" of the next preceding section of this ordinance, and further conditioned that in the event the above named owner fails to comply with the conditions herein set forth within the time specified in this ordinance, the City Council shall proceed to fulfill said conditions, the cost thereof to be paid by the surety on said bond. Such work shall be performed in the manner set forth in Title 26, Lincoln Municipal Code, passed December 19, 1960, as now existing, or as may hereafter be amended.

That the owners above set forth shall, in addition to the foregoing bond, and prior to the passage of this ordinance, execute and deliver to the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, a bond in the sum of $5,000.00, which bond shall be approved by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, and shall be conditioned upon the strict compliance by the owner above named with the conditions contained in paragraph "Second" of the next preceding section of this ordinance, and further conditioned that in the event the above named owner fails to comply with the conditions herein set forth within the time specified in this ordinance, the City Council shall proceed to fulfill said conditions, the cost thereof to be paid by the surety on said bond. Such work shall be performed in the manner set forth in Title 26, Lincoln Municipal Code, passed December 19, 1960, as now existing, or as may hereafter be amended.

Section 14. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication according to law.

Introduced by Lloyd D. Hinkley
Passed: February 5, 1962.
Bartlett E. Boyles, Mayor
ATTEST: Harold W. Springer, City Clerk

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example, A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. MARY WORTH

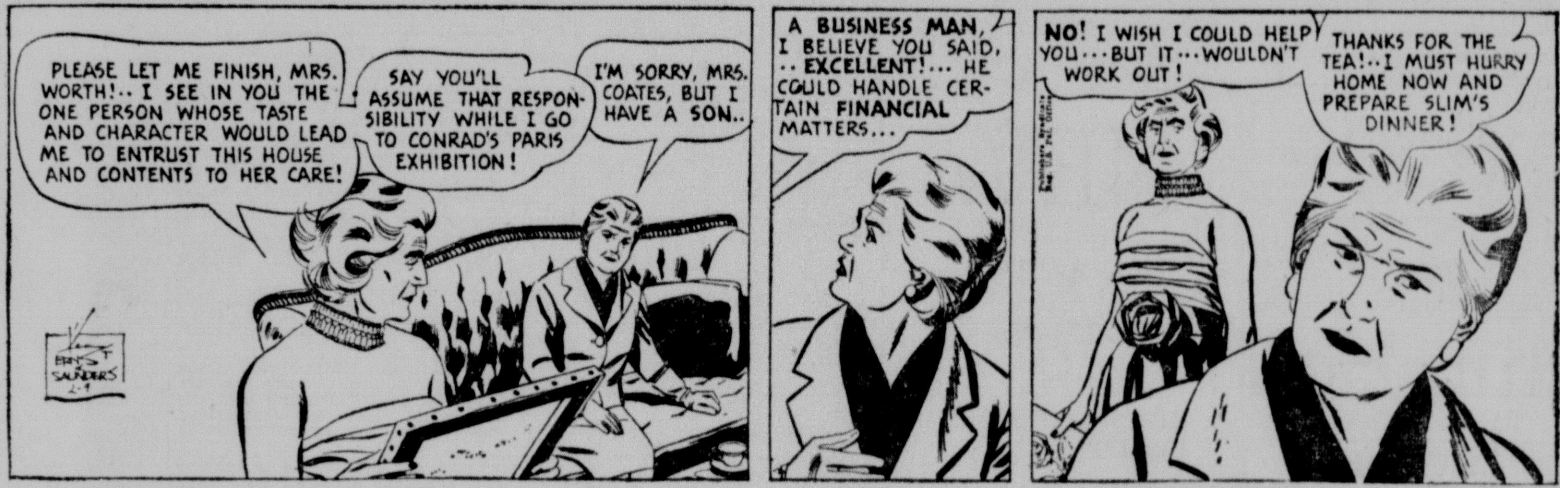
By Ken Ernst



PLEASE LET ME FINISH, MRS. WORTH!.. I SEE IN YOU THE ONE PERSON WHOSE TASTE AND CHARACTER WOULD LEAD ME TO ENTRUST THIS HOUSE AND CONTENTS TO HER CARE!
SAY YOU'LL ASSUME THAT RESPONSIBILITY WHILE I GO TO CONRAD'S PARIS EXHIBITION!
I'M SORRY, MRS. COATES, BUT I HAVE A SON..

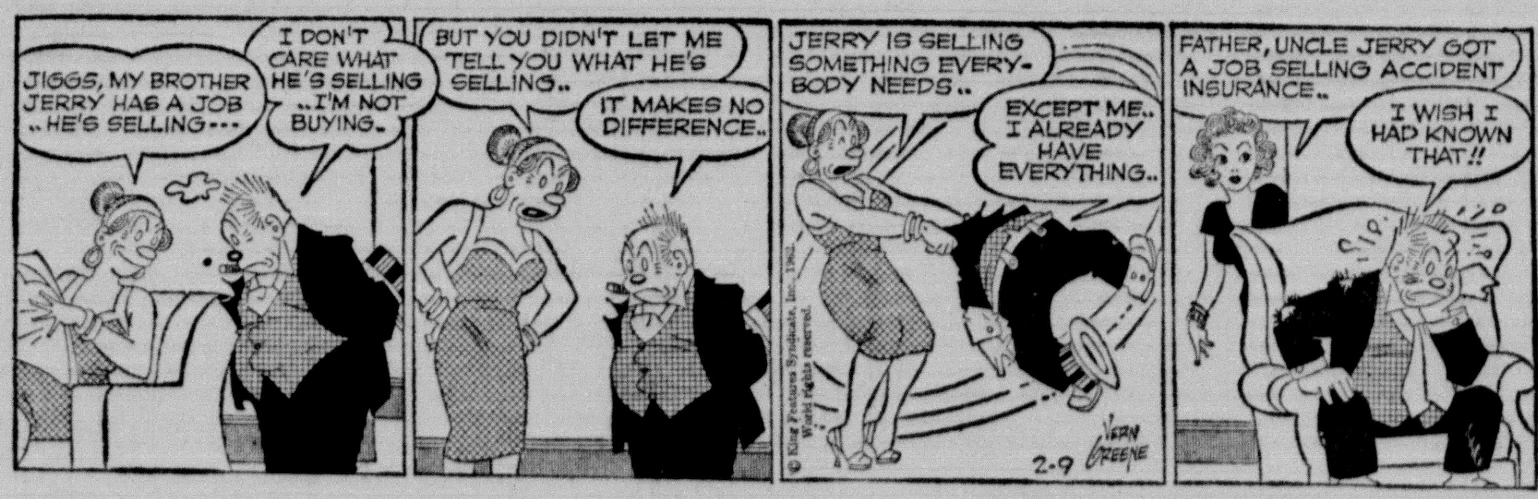
BRINGING UP FATHER

By Vern Greene



JIGGS, MY BROTHER JERRY HAS A JOB .. HE'S SELLING---
I DON'T CARE WHAT HE'S SELLING ..I'M NOT BUYING.
BUT YOU DIDN'T LET ME TELL YOU WHAT HE'S SELLING..
IT MAKES NO DIFFERENCE..
JERRY IS SELLING SOMETHING EVERYBODY NEEDS..
EXCEPT ME.. I ALREADY HAVE EVERYTHING..
